VOLUME XVII, NUMBER 134 — LA CROSSE, WISCONSIN, SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1920 — PRICE FIVE CENTS

The WEEK

By A. M. Brayton

ANOTHER bomb outrage was planned during the week. A police officer frustrated the assassins. Anarchists are unusually active, and the secret service and police are on the alert.

In the midst of this situation the New York legislature again expelled three of the five socialists ejected from the body last spring. They had been re-elected at a special election. In protesting against this action Charles Evans Hughes pointed out that the men were deprived of their seats for membership in a party which in its printed platform had violated the law, but that since their expulsion the party had revised its pronouncements to come within the law.

Sensible people know that the arrogant denial of the rights of socialists is making new anarchists and making old anarchists more dangerous. When a law-making body defiantly ignores the law, what is to be expected of ignorant men whose only education in the slums of Europe was a knowledge of bombs?

The League of Nations prevented war between Lithuania and Poland. Friends of the league made much of it. Within a week hostilities broke out again, and Saturday's communique spoke of "sanguinary fighting". Foes of the League of Nations laugh. Adverse politicians in the United States senate "amended" the teeth out of the league, and kept the world's most powerful nation from joining. Now they charge that the institution which they emasculated is impotent. Of course they are begging the question.

Henry Ford cuts the price on his simple but useful little auto in an effort to break the price of raw material. Henry can do this better than can companies which have put substantial new values into superior quality cars. It wasn't "supply and demand", for Henry announces that he has 160,000 orders which he cannot fill.

There followed a general run of price cutting, largely in lines where trade had slowed down. The movement is welcome, not only by the consumer, but by the far-seeing business man as well. But it is very important that prices shall not come down "out of control."

Lower prices are inevitable. We all want them. But we do not want prices to collapse and smash business. We all live on business in one way or another. Highest authorities agree that the downward trend should spread over a year or more. If this be true we are a lucky nation, for we shall escape the universal "hard times" which Europe is experiencing. Buyers, for their own sakes, have a double duty to perform, both parts of which are for the good of their own purses. They should buy as reasonably as possible, but they should not "strike". The sensible thing to do is to buy what one needs when one needs it, taking advantage of reductions as they arrive—just stop naturally. The saving by an overshrewd policy will probably be nominal, and should penny-wise "watchful waiting" become general we would soon close the sources of income. What would be the good of low prices if one had no money? Relief will come safely and gradually unless we stampede into a panic.

Millerand was the French premier. He was a power. He has been made president of France. As president he will have little or no power. As premier, Millerand built up French dominance in the European group of nations. That was his job. But in doing so he made enemies. Now that the job is done, he is to give way to a man who has no foreign enemies. This will smooth things out for France without depriving it of the advantages of Millerand's work. Germany used to run Europe more or less. Now France proposes to run it. France will run Europe until Europe is ready to fight again, unless the world does something practical looking to the prevention of war. Had the League of Nations, unborn of its powers, been functioning for the past year, France could not have created a condition like that which smouldered in Europe for half a century prior to the world war

It is pointed out that the state republican platform does not condemn the Nonpartisan League, but merely its leadership. In all that it has done and all that it stands for, good and bad alike, the Nonpartisan League is Townley. The League and its leadership are one. Of course what the resolution tried to impart was that the republican party condemns the Nonpartisan League, but thinks a lot of its members are fine fellows who have been imposed upon. Obviously of the forty to fifty thousand Wisconsin farmers who have joined the league as large a percentage are good citizens as would be true of the main run of any other group of citizens. The probability is that most of us, including the majority of the republican platform convention, know all too little about what good and bad features are to be found in the League. There'll be a heap of voting on prejudice, both ways, upon this proposition.

FAMOUS BANKER AND PHILANTHROPIST IS DEAD AT NEW YORK

Name of Jacob Schiff Closely Connected With Financial History of the Nation

WAS INVOLVED IN UNION PACIFIC REORGANIZATION

Widely Known for His Works of Charity

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Jacob Schiff, widely known banker and philanthropist, died at his home here tonight.

The name of Jacob H. Schiff has been associated with the financial history of New York and of this country for a quarter of a century. At intervals in that time Mr. Schiff took an active part in the financial development of some of the leading railroads and utility corporations in the United States.

Jacob H. Schiff.

This operation is regarded as one of the most important in which Mr. Schiff engaged as a banker. It involved a vast sum of money, possibly hundreds of millions of dollars, gave Mr. Schiff a prestige among New York banking houses which endured for the remainder of his life and it contributed to make E. H. Harriman the best known railroad organizer in the United States.

Floated Jap Loan

Another important enterprise which Mr. Schiff understood as head of his firm was the placing in this country of a large Japanese loan when Japan went to war with Russia. Some years later Mr. Schiff expressed regret that he had been instrumental in providing funds which helped to place Japan among the leading nations of the world as a military power.

Born at Frankfurt, Germany, January 10, 1847, Mr. Schiff was educated in Germany and when 18 years old removed to New York, where he entered upon his business career, beginning as a bank clerk. A few years afterward he became a member of a firm of bankers and brokers. In 1875 Mr. Schiff married Theresa, daughter of Solomon Loeb and became a member of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., of which his father-in-law was then senior partner.

Widely Known as Banker

When Mr. Loeb retired ten years later Mr. Schiff became head of the firm and has since occupied that position. After this successful share in the financing of the Union Pacific reorganization, Mr. Schiff became one of the most widely known and influential bankers of New York. He has been director of several of the leading banks, trust, life insurance, railroad and utility companies, including the Union Pacific railroad and the Western Union Telegraph company. His firm acted as fiscal agents for some of the leading corporations of the United States.

For more than a score of years Mr. Schiff was prominent in various forms of charity and philanthropy. He was vice president of the Baron de Hirsch fund, founder and president of the Montefiore Home for Chronic Invalids, one of the founders of Barnard college and contributed liberally to almost every Jewish movement or charitable institution and to many non-sectarian ones in New York. He gave generously to encourage the study of Hebrew literature, founded the Semitic Museum at Harvard and the Jewish Theological Seminary of New York.

William McAdoo, then secretary of the treasury, in a tribute to Mr. Schiff, on the occasion of his 70th birthday, described him as "a rare combination of the financier and altruist."

Mr. Schiff had one son, Mortimer L. Schiff, also a member of the firm of which his father was the head, and one daughter, Mrs. Felix Warburg, wife of another member of that firm. He had a home in Fifth avenue, New York, and a country home at Scarbright, New Jersey.

Ill Six Months

Mr. Schiff's death was due to arterio sclerosis. He was stricken six months ago, members of his family said, but had not suffered to any extent until August when he was compelled to return home from a sojourn in the White mountains.

His condition gradually became worse and he was confined to his home ten days ago.

Mr. Schiff's wife, his son, Mortimer L., and his daughter, Mrs. Felix Warburg, were called to his bedside this afternoon when physicians gave up hope of recovery.

Two brothers, Philip and Ludwig Schiff, merchants of Frankfort-on-Main, Germany, also survive him.

CONDITION OF MACSWINEY REPORTED UNCHANGED

LONDON, Sept. 25—A bulletin issued late tonight by the Irish Self-Determination league said that the condition of Lord Mayor MacSwiney was unchanged.

TWO YANKS KILLED IN POLAND; THIRD IS TAKEN PRISONER

WITH THE POLISH ARMY AT THE FRONT, Sept. 23.—By The Associated Press.—Captain Merion Cooper of Jacksonville, Fla., a member of the Kosciusko aerial squadron who is reported to be a prisoner in the hands of the bolsheviki after being shot down, dodged Cossacks all night but was captured the following day. According to Major Cedric Fauntleroy of the squadron, who interviewed peasants in that region, which is now occupied by the Poles, Cooper suffered only cuts on the face and bruises received while trying to escape through the underbrush after he landed.

Captain Arthur D. Kelly of Richmond, Va., also of the Kosciusko squadron, who was shot down over the village of Zwierow, near Lutsk, was thrown from his airplane when it struck the front of a church and death probably was due to a broken neck. The pilot fell with the machine and also was killed. Both were buried on the bank of a river near the village by peasants.

BASEBALL PLAYERS NOT TO BE QUIZZED TILL END OF SEASON

Investigation of Alleged Gambling Expected to Continue for Two Months

JOHNSON AND HEYDLER TO BE HEARD TUESDAY

U. S. Attorney Probes Distribution of Pool Tickets

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Plans to subpoena four members of the Chicago American league club and the wife of one of its players to appear next week before the Cook county grand jury investigating the alleged "fixing" of last year's world's series were abandoned today and Hartley Replogle, in charge of the inquiry, announced that no members of the team would be called until the end of the baseball season.

"We do not want to interfere with the chances of the White Sox to win the pennant," said Mr Replogle.

Mr. Replogle said that the jury now had a list of prospective witnesses who would easily keep it busy until the end of the season.

Mr. Replogle, who yesterday announced the jury would be continued in a special session after its regular term expired September 30 tonight, said that the investigation probably would last two months longer. Every person who is believed to possess any information concerning the alleged gambling will be subpoenaed.

President B. B. Johnson of the American league, who left a few days ago on what was expected to be a secret trip to New York for information, and President John Heydler of the National league, who has been conducting a private investigation for several weeks, will be the first witnesses when the jury reconvenes on Tuesday. Several newspapermen and a group of Chicagoans whose names are being withheld but who are said to have won or lost heavily on the series are also scheduled to testify.

United States District Attorney Clyne today said he had found that most of the baseball pool tickets in circulation in the middle west were distributed from Green Castle, Ind. He said he had not yet found how they were sent out from there, but if the mails were used he would bring federal action against the distributors.

Heydler Investigating

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 25—John A. Heydler, president of the National league was in Cleveland today following up "leads" in connection with the alleged throwing of the game of August 31 by the Chicago Cubs to the Philadelphia Nationals. Mr. Heydler came here from Detroit where, he said, he secured valuable information which he will place before the grand jury in Chicago early next week.

The National league president said he has lines on several bets having been placed here on the Chicago-Philadelphia game, but has been unable to trace them down as yet.

FORMER SECRETARY TO LENINE TAKEN IN CHICAGO RAID

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 25.—Witty Schachman, formerly secretary to Nikolai Lenine, was arrested late today in a raid by the police bomb squad on communist headquarters. A quantity of literature, including a list said to contain the names of several hundred radicals working in this country in the interest of the Russian soviet government, was seized.

Letters from Lenine, correspondence between communist party leaders and the French syndicalists and Russian communists and several secret codes also were seized, according to police.

MAIL ORDER PRICES ARE STILL HIGHER THAN LOCAL STORES

Recent Reductions of Chicago Catalogue Houses of no Benefit Here

COMPARISONS ARE REVEALED BY A LA CROSSE MERCHANT

John Sinclair Quotes Prices to Show the Difference

That local merchants, quoting goods at old prices, are still underselling the mail order houses in Chicago which on Wednesday announced reductions of 15 to 20 per cent in quotations on some lines of goods, is the contention of John Sinclair, 322 Pearl street, dealer in rugs and draperies.

Mr. Sinclair has made an exhaustive investigation of prices of various commodities here, as compared to the new prices announced by the Chicago mail order houses, and his conclusions are all in favor of local merchants and demonstrate clearly the wisdom of buying at home.

Giving a few illustrations, Mr. Sinclair quotes prices from the Montgomery-Ward catalogue, just issued, and compares them with prices of the same goods in his store, as follows:

	Mail order prices	Sinclair prices
Wilton rugs, 9x12, each	$130.00	110.00
Printed linoleum, square yard	1.37½	1.25
Plain H. S. Marquisette curtains, pair	2.89	2.50
Lace edge Marquisette, yard	.85	.75
Opaque window shades, each	.98	.95
Wool Nap plaid blankets, 66x80", pair	8.65	8.50
Wool blankets, 70x80, fancy plaid patterns, cotton warp wool filling	13.50	13.75

WORD RECEIVED HERE OF DEATH OF LEADER OF LUTHERAN CHURCH

Word was received in La Crosse yesterday by Rev. H. G. Magelssen of the death in Minneapolis of Rev. J. N. Kildahl, D. D., professor of dogmatics at the Hamline Theological Seminary and one of the leaders of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America. He was vice president of the church organization. Dr. Kildahl was well-known to many La Crosse people.

Dr. Kildahl was 53 years of age. For fifteen years he was president of St. Olaf's college at Northfield, Minn., and left that post five years ago to take the chair he occupied at the time of his death in the Hamline seminary. Prior to his connection with St. Olaf's he was a pastor in Chicago. In the last twenty years he has been among the most prominent in Lutheran religious circles of any man in the northwest.

Dr. Kildahl's death resulted from a stroke of paralysis a few days since. He died in Fairview hospital at Minneapolis.

THIRD INTERNATIONALE TO ORGANIZE U. S. BRANCH TO DIRECT RADICAL ACTIVITIES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—By The Associated Press.—Establishment in the United States of a branch of the Third Internationale with the object of unifying the activities of the revolutionary organizations which function on the two American continents was ordered by the Internationale at its Moscow meeting late in July, it has been learned by officials here.

To further the spread of bolshevism in the western hemisphere resolutions were adopted at Moscow, the advices received here state, pledging support both moral and material to strikes, either economic or political. Material aid is to be furnished the strikers in money paid by the American branch of the Internationale.

Secret instructions adopted at the Moscow meeting are said to provide for a general strike of workers, particularly the railroad men and miners, "if their capitalist governments show any indications to strangle the revolution."

All revolutionary sections, the instructions state, "are formally directed to support the Russian soviet if they proclaim a revolutionary war."

Spread of bolshevism doctrines to the United States is part of a world wide campaign, the advices received here declare. One of the resolutions adopted at Moscow asserts that "the activities of the third Internationale should not by any minutes be limited to the territories of Europe but should be extended to India, Afghanistan, Turkey, Persia, Korea, China, Indo-China and the Latin American countries.

ANNUAL TAG DAY FOR VISITING NURSE IS EVENT OF SATURDAY

Public Again Asked to Contribute to Support of Important Health Work

MRS. MACMILLAN AGAIN IN CHARGE OF ARRANGEMENTS

Asks Volunteers to Report Names at Y. W. C. A.

LA CROSSE'S seventh annual Visiting Nurse Tag day, the yearly public giving which supports one of the most important features of the public health work of the city, will be held next Saturday, October 2.

This was the announcement made last night by Mrs. D. G. MacMillan, who will again serve as chairman of the Tag day committee. Mrs. MacMillan was also in charge of the event last year, when the largest sum ever raised was collected by the taggers.

Arrangements for the Tag day will largely follow the plans of former years, Mrs. MacMillan indicated. They will include scores of young women on the corners with tags, boxes and smiles for contributors, committees to canvass factories, and a Boy Scout corps to act as messengers, work on the street cars and otherwise look after loose ends.

Workers for the Tag day are now being enlisted, Mrs. MacMillan said. She requested that those who are willing to help leave their names at the Y. W. C. A., which will be headquarters of the committee.

At least $2,500 should be collected, it was indicated, in order to insure the continuation of the visiting nurse work. The money is put with funds appropriated by the city, and is used by the health department to pay the expenses of the nurses supplied by the hospitals to work under the supervision of Miss Myra Kimball, the supervising nurse of the health department, to maintain a car for the nurse department, and other necessary activities not included in the municipal appropriation.

UPWARD TREND OF LIBERTY BONDS IS FEATURE OF WEEK

Recover Greater Part of Losses Sustained During Earlier Part of 1920

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The activity and strength of Liberty bonds constituted the most conspicuous and reassuring feature of the week in the investment market, those issues and Victory notes in several instances recovering more than half of the severe losses sustained in the early months of the year.

The vigorous rebound of quotations for these issues occasioned surprise in many quarters, where it was thought that the latest price cutting wave might enforce further liquidation. It was this condition which caused heavy selling and consequent price depreciation last spring.

Much of the recent accumulation of these war flotations is credited to the larger banks, industrial corporations and insurance companies, some of which found it necessary or expedient to liquidate their holdings in the past because of the more stringent credit conditions several months ago.

WOMAN TO HAVE ACTIVE PART IN DEMOCRATIC DRIVE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Women are to be given an active part in the democratic congressional campaign. Chairman Flood of the democratic congressional committee announced today that five women had been named to the executive committee of the national committee.

ONLY ONE OF FIVE ALLEGED WHISKEY RING MEN APPEARS

Louie Wodzynski Enters Not Guilty Plea and is Released on Bonds

SCHULTZ AND LOUIE OLSON GO AUTOING WHILE U. S. WAITS

Probable that Others Will Appear on Sunday

WITH Joseph Ganz, deputy United States Marshal, here from Madison to serve warrants upon five La Crosse saloonkeepers whose places were raided Friday and in which prohibition agents claim they found liquor of greater kicking powers than the "one-half of one" permitted by the Volstead act, the alleged offenders were so unconcerned that the federal officer could locate but one.

Louis Wodzynski was the only man who was on deck at the federal building at 7:30 this morning and he pleaded "not guilty" before U. S. Court Commissioner Alfred Harrison and was released on $500 bail.

Federal officials were not disconcerted by the failure of the others to appear, their absence being accounted for in various ways.

William Schultz, proprietor of the Burlington hotel bar, was said to be "auto riding." A similar excuse was given for Louis Olson while the Hub saloon man was in town but "couldn't be located just now."

It is probable the four remaining alleged offenders will go through the formality of pleading "not guilty" tomorrow.

FIRE VICTIMS SEND CHECKS TO PENSION FUND IN GRATITUDE

The firemen's pension fund was enriched Saturday by three substantial checks, and the force was warmed up by the same number of letters of appreciation, as the result of the fire of Wednsday evening at the Tausche hardware store.

The checks were from the V. Tausche Hardware company, the F. Doerre Estate, owner of the building, and from the Nels Thompson clothing store, next door to the burned structure, which was saved from serious harm by the work of the firemen.

Chief F. C. McGlachlin announced receipt of the checks and letters yesterday, expressing the fire department's appreciation of the recognition of its work.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—A reduction in lumber prices of 16 to 35 per cent over February quotations was announced today by retail dealers in Chicago with an average wholesale reduction of 27 per cent throughout the country, according to statistics made public by L. R. Putnam, directing manager of the Wholesale Lumber association. The greatest reduction is in hardwood. Mr. Putnam said, quotations being reduced 33 per cent over February prices.

Unless the men return the local automobile dealers will have 200 free automobiles in service Monday to take passengers to and from the business district.

SENATE COMMITTEE ADJOURNS PROBE TO OCTOBER THE 18TH

Sub-Committee to Complete Cox Campaign Inquiry; Plan Session in St. Louis

INVESTIGATE ACTIVITIES OF PEACE ENFORCEMENT LEAGUE

National Committeeman Dupont Called to Stand Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—With the exception of a sub-committee inquiry into charges involving the financing of the campaign of Governor Cox in Ohio in 1918 and completion of its investigation into conditions in Missouri, the senate committee looking into presidential campaign funds and political influences had cleared its slate today when it adjourned its session here to reconvene in St. Louis October 18. The Ohio inquiry will be conducted by Senators Edge and Pomerene in Dayton, beginning October 7.

Lacking the testimony of E. H. Talbot of Dayton, Ohio, who had been summoned in connection with the implied charge made before the committee yesterday that the Dayton Metal Products company had taken up a $5,000 note for Governor Cox in 1918, the committee conducted a hard drive toward clearing up loose ends of previous hearings.

The hearings today were devoted to further inquiry into the activities of the league to enforce peace; the connection between "Stars and Stripes," a weekly newspaper for former soldiers and the democratic campaign association; the inter-racial council and the Association of Foreign Language Newspapers with T. Coleman Dupont, republican national committeeman from Delaware, on the stand; and into trips of navy department officials and employes, including Secretary Daniels, to the Pacific coast during the time of the democratic convention in San Francisco.

Incidentally the committee heard details of what was described as a "quadrennial row" between republican factions in North Carolina and apologized for having summoned Clarence R. Pugh, from Elizabeth City, that state, for examination. It found no evidence of any $50,000 fund provided by Chairman Hays of the republican national committee to organize North Carolina textile workers as a political opponent of Mr. Pugh had charged.

Another witness told of a republican fund of $8,500, thus far raised in Pennsylvania but denied all knowledge of any fixed quota pressed closely by Senator Reed, who drew out the admission that a second organization, a Harding and Coolidge club, also was raising funs in Pennsylvania.

Considerable time was devoted to examination of Richard H. Waldo of New York and it was from this witness that a statement was obtained that he understood B. M. Baruch and Secretary Meredith had helped finance publication of "The Stars and Stripes," having been "assessed" as leading democrats through the influence of members of the democratic national organization. Waldo said Baruch had "come through" under pressure, with $7,000 and Secretary Meredith with $2,500.

TRUST IN THE LORD

TRUST in the Lord with all thine heart, and lean not unto thine own understanding.—Proverbs 3: 5.

IN THE OPEN

IN demanding the defeat of Senator Lenroot, republican nominee for United States senator, Senator La Follette seems to have made certain that the republican state central committee will resolve itself into a Lenroot campaign committee which will not even bother to damn John J. Blaine with faint praise. Blaine having opposed endorsement of the national republican ticket and platform, and of Senator Lenroot, and having discarded the republican state platform for the one upon which he won his nomination, has made it easy for the committee to brand him as a bolter. In seeking to justify such a step the committee might appeal to rock-ribbed republican feeling by recalling that within the past few months Senator La Follette has publicly declared the republican party a "failure", and that in June he deliberated for days upon the advisability of quitting the republican party and accepting a presidential nomination from a third party.

In the signed editorial in which Senator La Follette demands the defeat of Lenroot, he says:

"The people in the November elections must defeat the men who voted for the Esch-Cummins law and the league of nations."

Here Senator La Follette, sponsor for Blaine, flatly demands the defeat of Senator Harding, republican candidate for the presidency of the United States.

In the same editorial Senator La Follette declares that "both the old parties are responsible for the Esch-Cummins law and the league of nations".

This repetition of the term "the old parties" in the senior senator's language may be interpreted by the committee as disclosing a "new party" in the mind of La Follette, and may suggest that he is merely marking time in the republican party until after election, when he can emerge from cover and swing his personal organization and such offices as his followers can land under the republican label, from the "old party" to the "new party".

La Follette never leaps in the dark. He knows what he is doing. Such hazards as arise from his present action are deliberately created. The "new party" is not the idle talk of an angry politician. Both La Follette and Blaine know they are flirting with defeat in this election. La Follette would like to elect Blaine as a republican upon an independent platform that could be made the platform of the proposed new party. But he prefers Blaine's defeat to any compromise on the principles he advocates. They'll "hew to the line" and take the consequences.

It is unquestionably a mistake to regard Morgan's attack upon Blaine as the inspiration of La Follette's assault upon Lenroot. Doubtless La Follette would have struck at Lenroot immediately after the platform convention, no matter how it terminated. Morgan did no more than give him an excuse.

It is our prediction that the republican state central committee will accept every challenge hurled at it by Senator La Follette, and that if possible material can be found La Follette will bring out an independent candidate for United States senator.

The thing seems beyond patching. The swords are crossed. What political future is before Senator La Follette lies in new fields. The republican party is behind him, and he has burned his bridges.

CAN YOU STAND ON IT?

THE republican platform is a peculiarly "republican" document. Criticising it as "newspaper copy" one might say that it lacks "human interest". It has not that personal appeal which comes of intimacy and sympathy with the interests of human beings to which it seeks to appeal.

The platform's endorsement of the national ticket and platform is by no means perfervid, if indeed it is not perfunctory. This is probably in tune with the state, which seems about to elect Harding by a great majority largely because that is the only way in which it can defeat the democratic party by a big majority.

Wisely, no doubt, the platform generally avoids such controversial subjects as the league of nations, touching them only in the blanket endorsement of the national platform.

The endorsement of Senator Lenroot seems sincere, but it is neither elaborate nor effusive. Probably it is about what the modest junior senator would have chosen had he been consulted.

The endorsement of the Mulberger act is a political play which will shave the vote both ways. Excepting wherein it demands amendment of the enforcement feature it is a dead letter, save only as a catch-pot for votes.

The demand for improvement of the marketing law seems to be a groping toward something little understood and possibly trimmed with dynamite, but it may serve as a basis upon which the legislature can proceed to something practical. The clause against food hoarding will be a good test of the intentions of the Nonpartisan league. It may be the first wedge to split the farmer-labor alliance, for labor is apt to favor it, while some farmers will oppose.

On land settlement, good roads and taxes the platform heads mainly in the right direction. Discussion of the school question is friendly to a liberal policy, but does not indicate any broad and forward program in the background.

"The leadership of the Nonpartisan league, I. W. W. and communist party", are assailed. This is the to-be famous Morgan resolution, a political bombshell which most candidates hope will prove a dud. Many leaders regard it as much ado about nothing, but whatever may be said of its nothingness, its much ado bids fair to become the consuming interest of the campaign.

Taken as a whole the document is not calculated to add much to the state's blood pressure. It is neither progressive nor reactionary, nor would we call it a statesmanlike platform. Were we to offer the most pointed adverse criticism which occurs to us, it would be that the reference to socialism may be made the basis of opposing soundly progressive measures upon the ground that they are socialistic. In this semi-socialistic democracy such a platform platitude may become a stumbling block in the way of progress.

THE SPICE OF LIFE

ANNOUNCEMENT that competition in the Wisconsin corn and grain show, which will be held in La Crosse in December, has been opened to entries from Minnesota and Iowa adds a sporting touch to the big event that is likely to do more than increase the number of competitors. Offhand it might seem that to challenge comparison with corn from Iowa, or wheat from Minnesota was greatly daring on the part of Wisconsin. But after due reflection upon the results of the last few national grain shows, and the comforting consideration of one Jippa Weilinga of these parts, among other Wisconsin names of note in agriculture, one reaches the conclusion that the neighbors had better come prepared for a hoss-race. In any event, whether Wisconsin wins or loses, it will add interest to the show to have opportunity to make interstate comparisons, and La Crosse at least will welcome the extension of the field because of the added attendance and importance it is bound to produce.

CHURCH NEWS

Furnished by the Church News Association

Baptist and other federations, especially those which promote community work, are to co-operate with the Federal Council of Churches and held in some thirty cities this fall and early winter a series of conferences, the aim being to put the Christian principles of the churches into settlements of industrial troubles if possible. Cities in which it has already been determined to hold these conferences are Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and Richmond, and there is forming a team of speakers which is to hold a series in cities in the south. There have promised to attend these conferences Christian employers of labor, and also labor and labor union leaders.

This past summer two hundred and fifty-two bishops of the English-speaking world, including some sixty from the United States, met in London and formulated some new proposals for Christian unity. There met with and agreed in these proposals bishops from the Greek, the Old Catholic and the Eastern Orthodox churches. Within the past fortnight these proposals were for the first time published in this country. The ink is hardly dry on the announcements, when the current Methodist, Presbyterian and some other religious weeklies are out in scathing repudiation. They charge the same old wolf in a new dress, dishonesty in the purpose of those who make the new propositions, and taunt Anglicans with dark record in past generations. Political controversialists have nothing on these church unity ones.

A deputation of two hundred Canadian men is to come to Washington in automobiles early next month to attend a World Brotherhood Congress. They are to see the sights of several cities on the trip, including Philadelphia and New York. One session of the congress is to be addressed by the British ambassador. There are to be in Washington, to attend the congress, William Ward of London, organizer of brotherhood work in England, the Rev. Tom Sykes, head of the British delegation, a couple of delegates from Serbia, and some from France and others from South Africa. In the United States the brotherhood is composed for the most part of members of Men's Clubs in Protestant churches, but in England the clubs have next to no connection with churches. Instead, they are community leaders, most of them working men.

Talks on Citizenship

By D. O. Kinsman Ph. D.

Professor of Economics, Lawrence College and Educational Director of Wisconsin Society for Civic and Economic Education.

Questions of general interest pertaining to civics and economics will be answered in these columns. When space will not permit, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitation, and when a stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Address communications to Professor D. O. Kinsman, Lawrence College, Appleton, Wisconsin.

THE QUALIFICATIONS OF VOTERS

The ruling classes have always questioned the ability of the masses to participate in affairs of the state. The time was when it was an accepted belief that only divinely chosen kings were qualified to rule the state; then in time the nobles secured a voice in the management; and finally suffrage became common and democratic governments were ushered in.

The framers of our United States constitution were afraid to trust the government to the whims and fancies of the average voter. It is a striking fact that in this, the greatest of all democracies, the voters do not elect directly a single United States officer. Federal judges are appointed by the president and the senate; the president and vice president are elected by electors chosen in the various states; and senators and representatives have been officially declared to be state, not United States officials. The executive civil service of the United States at present employs approximately 650,000 workers or one in every 166 of our population. All these and thousands of others are appointed.

An examination of colonial and state history reveals the fact that the suffrage has been enjoyed by the favored few. In some instances only those who owned a certain amount of land were permitted to vote, in others the privilege was granted only to taxpayers, or to church members, or to the educated. Since the suffrage is such a powerful weapon it is but slowly that it has been given to the masses. Caption is wise, for a misstep would produce most serious consequences.

However, it could be only a question of time when the few must yield to the many in the matter of suffrage. Slowly the qualifications have been modified until manhood suffrage became common. Following the civil war, the freed slaves were given the right to vote in the belief that this was the only means by which they could protect their rights.

After a struggle of seventy years, there has just been written into the constitution the nineteenth amendment which provides that no citizen of the United States, twenty-one years of age, shall be deprived of the right to vote because of sex. This is as it should be, but let us of the north appreciate the position of our sister states of the south where an extension of the suffrage to the colored women greatly intensified an already serious situation.

As now provided by the federal and our state constitutions a voter in Wisconsin must be twenty-one years of age, a resident of the state one year, and of the election district where he offers to vote ten days. He or she must be a citizen of the United States, either native born or naturalized; or a civilized person of Indian descent not a member of any tribe; or a person of Indian blood whose tribe has been declared by congress to be citizens of the United States. This last provision was enacted for the benefit of the Stockbridge Indians who, for a time, gave up their tribal organization and tried the white man's mode of life, but later returned to their tribal government. Yet, they retained their right to vote!

But all persons possessing the above named qualifications are not permitted to vote. Persons under guardianship, or who are idiotic, or insane, are denied the suffrage. Nor are persons who have served a term in the state penitentiary permitted to vote unless pardoned by the governor. The right is also denied persons who bet on the election or who have been convicted of bribery, or who have participated in a duel.

The qualifications for exercising the suffrage are very important for they designate the group who possess the most important powers in our republic. No patriotic voter should fail to perform his patriotic duty.

(Next week Professor Kinsman will discuss "The Safeguards to the Suffrage.")

Alien Women May Become Naturalized

Miss A. R. asks: How may a woman born in a foreign country become a citizen of the United States?

Reply: A woman born in a foreign country may become a citizen of the United States in either of two ways. She may take out her first and second papers the same as a man or a quicker, but more dubious method is to marry a citizen of the United States.

Number of Senators and Representatives

Mr. R. M. asks: How many members are there in the United States house of representatives? In the United States senate?

Reply: There are 435 members in the house of representatives and 96 United States senators. Representatives will be reappointed as soon as the United States census reports the population. The number will then be changed as the house thinks wise.

Old British law recognized no right to bequeath lands which it held to belong to the family rather than to the family's head.

A NATURAL ANIMAL TRAP

A pool of asphalt about 500 feet in diameter exists six miles east of Los Angeles, Cal., which comprises a great field of work for the natural history student. The place is a veritable trap set by nature to catch all kinds of luckless animals. A foot once caught in it, all struggles to escape are hopeless. The result is that the pool is filled with the remains of animals of all ages and some surprising discoveries have been made among the specimens brought to light.

They Understood

One of the best known women in London's newspaper world, traveling by train, and endeavoring to make shorthand notes en route, was hopelessly interrupted by a man on the opposite seat, who persisted in shouting his political opinions to an acquaintance in the farthest corner.

At last he used a phrase containing the word "damn", and turned to apologize to the lady for using such a word.

"Don't mention it," she replied sweetly. "I have been mentally using the word for the last hour."

And the newspapers of the other passengers rustled through the laughter of their owners.

Interesting the Pup

"A remarkable case of business enterprise, I call it."

"What now?"

"Here's a feller manufacturing a puppy biscuit shaped like an old shoe."—Judge.

MICE GATHER THE BEAN CROP

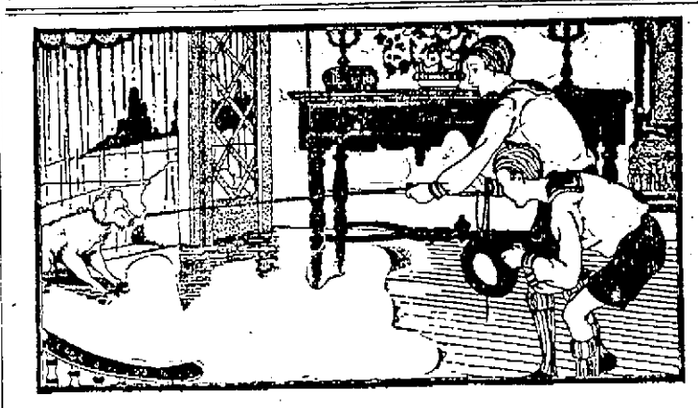

In the northern part of Dakota there grows a bean which is related to the peanut and of which the Indians of that section are very fond. As each plant bears but a single bean, the labor of gathering them would be very great, but the field mice of that section gather the beans and hide them for winter consumption in underground storehouses.

The Indians know how to locate the caches and in the autumn they go forth and rob them, but the supplies are invariably replaced with corn or some other grain which the Indians have in plenty so that the little harvesters are not starved out. The beans have a delicious flavor and are highly prized. In the course of a few days' hunt one Indian may gather two bushels, a few quarts being secured from each of the underground storehouses. The Indians say that this method of gathering food from mouse hoards dates back to pre-historic times, but the traditions of the tribes protect the mice in that it is taught that dire punishment falls upon those who take the beans without replacing them with corn.

CHRISTINE TENBORG BECOMES THE BRIDE OF LOUIS DOEBBERT

Miss Clara Kinneborg and Mr. Olaf Grinland are also United in Holy Matrimony

RUSHFORD, Minn., Sept. 25.—A marriage of recent date interests many of this city and its vicinity. Miss Christina Tenborg, eldest daughter of Mrs. James Tenborg, who resides north of Rushford, a short time ago became the bride of Mr. Louis Doebbert of Boris Valley, near Winona. The marriage was performed at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schroeder, in Winona, the officiating minister being Rev. Paul Froehlke. The bride's attendant was Miss Elsie Doebbert, a sister of the groom, the groom's attendant being the bride's brother, John Tenborg. A very pretty gown fashioned of white voille, was worn by the bride, a long flimy veil held in place by a wreath of bride's roses, completing the beauty of the costume. After the ceremony, a reception and wedding supper was enjoyed by the guests, who were mostly relatives of the contracting parties. Mr. and Mrs. Doebbert departed upon an evening train for a short wedding trip to the Twin cities, after which they went directly to the farm in Boris Valley owned by the bridegroom, where they will make their home.

Another marriage of interest to many here was that of Miss Clara Kinneborg and Olaf Grinland, both residents of the nearby country. The two came to Rushford on Saturday, September 18, and going quietly to the home of Rev. O. M. Saevig, the officiating clergyman, there exchanged the marriage vows. They were attended by Miss Emma Kinneborg and Bernard Olson, close friends of the couple. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. I. Kinneborg of Rushford vicinity and is a very popular young lady. The groom is also well and favorably known here. On the Sunday following the marriage of this popular young couple, their many friends staged a surprise party upon them at the home of the bride's mother, bringing with them a delicious luncheon.

Mrs. Elizabeth Huffcut, who has for several months been the guest of her brother, W. H. Blanchfield, and also of numerous other relatives and friends here, has gone out to the state of Washington to spend the winter with a niece. Mrs Huffcut's home is in New York state.

Mrs. Jane Hargraves of Dickens, Iowa, has been a guest of the Frank Drake home and numerous other relatives and friends. She has returned to her home.

Mrs. Albert Baerman arrived in this city last Tuesday afternoon from Lime Springs, to see her husband's father, Mr. A. Baerman, who has been quite ill at the home of his son, William Baerman. Both Mr. and Mrs. Albert Baerman motored up from the Iowa town last Sunday, returning the same day.

The T. R. Parish home in this city has recently entertained as guests Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Houghton, Walter Houghton and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Reed, all of La Crosse. The party came up by car.

Miss Jane McLaughlin, formerly of this city, now of Chatfield, Minn., was the guest last Sunday of the T. Sundby home and of other friends here.

Miss Rozette Hendrix, state president of the Minnesota W. C. T. U. was the guest of honor at a social hour meeting held at the A. Vaagen home last Tuesday afternoon. Miss Hendrix spoke at this meeting, upon the live issues of the day and her talk was greatly enjoyed. During the afternoon, a dainty luncheon was served. On the evening of the same day, she spoke at the First Presbyterian church. At this meeting a musical program was also heard. While in this city, Miss Hendrix was entertained at the home of the local union's president, Mrs. A. Wright.

At the E. L. Kilbourne home was recently entertained Miss Mae Kilbourne, a niece of Mr. Kilbourne. Another niece of this gentleman is Fannie Kilbourne, the magazine writer, whose clever sketches have pleased many.

During the forenoon of the first day of the fall festival, the ladies of the Norwegian Lutheran church of this city combined forces and served a delicious luncheon at the church basement. Especially well did the arrangement suit many whose homes were too far distant from the city to allow them to go back to dinner and then return to the festivities of the afternoon.

The members of the Rushford Women's Welfare league maintained a public rest room in one of the downtown buildings, during the two days of the festival and many weary sightseers found the place a haven of rest and comfort.

Last Wednesday the Women's Welfare league of this city held its regular fortnightly meeting at the public library. A most interesting program was heard after the regular business meeting. Mr. D. S. Prinzing, Rushford's city attorney, gave a short talk upon the election laws; Mrs. Prinzing read an interesting paper upon "The Federal and Municipal Courts;" Mrs. Rollins read a good paper upon "Congress and its Relation to the Executive and How a Law is Passed."; Mrs. A. K. Hanson gave a very interesting paper upon "Congress and its Work, Organization and Committees." Miss Rosa Knudson, instructor in music of the Rushford schools, had charge of the musical program for the afternoon. Numerous old favorite songs were selected and sung by all. The league's next meeting will be held at the library on October 5.

When Mrs. C. E. Johnson, residing west of this city a short distance, looked from her kitchen window last Sunday as she was preparing dinner, she saw a long procession of autos driving up to the door of her home and she and her husband soon realized that a surprise party was in progress. Over fifty self-invited guests were present at a picnic dinner brought by them and a purse of nearly twenty-five dollars given the couple with which to purchase gifts for themselves.

BORE CRIME FOR MOTHER, PAROLED

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Willie Knuckles, who when 16 years old perjured himself like a gentleman to free his mother of conspiracy in the death of his stepfather, has been paroled. The boy at the time of his trial, years ago, tried to take the blame for the killing. His mother, in the first trial, was convicted of conspiracy, but the court of appeals set the verdict aside. She was convicted again on second trial, despite the fact that the boy again took the blame, and was sentenced to life imprisonment. She was pardoned shortly afterwards.

SAM NEEDED THAT KISS!

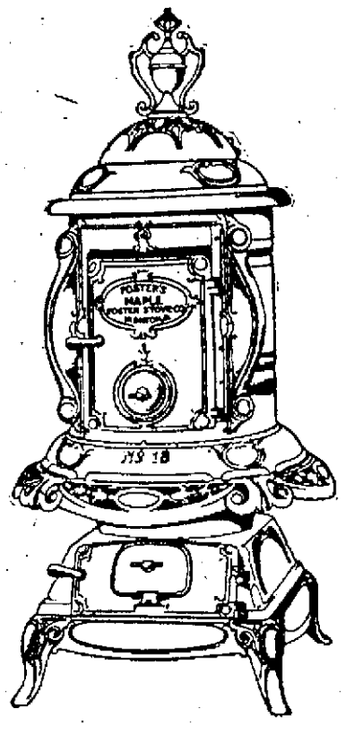

BLUEFIELD, W. Va.—If ever a man needed a kiss, it was Sam Johnson. Sam said to his wife, "Kiss me, Lizzie, it'll cost me money if you don't." Sam's wife swore out a warrant for him after he had slapped her. Then they made up. She begged the judge to drop the case. The judge wanted both brought into court, to make sure all was well. Sam thought the kiss would fix things with the judge. It did.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS HAZE WITH TACKS

DENVER.—The police are investigating a mild little hazing party said to have been held by seniors of the Independence high school here at the expense of juniors. The upperclassmen, it is charged, compelled the juniors to hold a shirt-tail parade and then to run the gauntlet of paddles studded with tacks. Bobby Shafer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Shafer, has a fractured knee.

UNIQUE WORSHIPPING PLACE OF LOCAL ENGLISH LUTHERANS WHOSE CHURCH WAS DESTROYED BY FIRE

With new building made impossible by high prices of materials, local parish puts roof over basement and provides worshipping place at a total cost of only $1,000.00.

INSPIRED, perhaps by the early Roman Christians who, because of religious and governmental prejudices were forced to worship in the catacombs, the parishioners of the English Lutheran church here have decided to conduct their services beneath the ground at Twelfth and Ferry streets.

In the local instance the church people are not actuated by fear of an iron-hand ruler but have taken refuge against the High Cost of Living which, in this instance, made worship in a modern edifice impossible.

On January 4th—the first Sunday of this year—the English Lutheran Church burned.

To tide them over arrangements were made whereby the parish used the Universalist church at Eighth and Cass streets.

To rebuild, at present prices of Materials, was out of the question. Estimates for a new church involved figures of such staggering proportions that the plan was temporarily abandoned.

It was then that the pastor, Rev. J. J. S. Rumbarger and some of his loyal church people, hit upon the scheme of razing the partially burned church, roofing over the basement and utilizing the basement for church purposes.

Crews were set to work, the charred mess cleaned up and enough lumber salvaged from the old structure to make a roof over the basement. Ordinary roofing paper was then employed to waterproof it as well as give it sufficient warmth to permit of services during the cold Sundays of a Wisconsin winter.

With minor exceptions, the place is now ready for occupancy and about the middle of November regular church and Sunday school services will be held there.

The furnace remained intact throughout the fire and will be ample to heat the unique structure, it is said.

The total cost of providing a worshipping place for the parish was but $1,000.

Rev. Rumbarger says the parish has not abandoned plans for building a new and handsome edifice but that all plans have been held in abeyance pending a drop in costs most people expect as a result of the recent price slashing of one H. Ford, manufacturer of "flivvers."

THE SUBSTITUTE FOR COAL

As coal grows scarcer and consequently more expensive water powers will be developed as a substitute. Enormous hydro-electric plants will be built at dam sites established along the rivers, and these, supplemented by steam plants at the mines, will furnish unlimited quantities of the "juice" for manufacturing, transportation and other purposes. New England lacks coal, but has plenty of available water power.

This is no mere dream; it has got to come. As coal (the main cost of which to the user is for transportation) comes dearer, the demand for a less expensive substitute to furnish power, heat and light will compel resort to electricity. Whole regions will be electrified and the motorists of half a century from now will refer to the gasoline tank of the grandfathers in much the same way as we are accustomed to speak of the dodo.

The following statement is attributed to a well-known statistician: "The business and other institutions of the United States of America are run by not more than two per cent of those connected with them, and would fail if those 2 per cent were withdrawn. Of these 2 per cent, 4 per cent are the sons of bankers, eight of business men, twenty-five of educators and thirty of preachers."—Merrill Herald.

Gaunt of Little Rock, Ark., at the home of her sister, Mrs. G. R. Lawrence, at Sioux City, Iowa. Rev. W. M. Hamilton performed the ceremony in the presence of forty relatives and friends.

Mrs. Lawrence sang "At Dawning," after which Lohengrin's Wedding March was played by Mrs. C. E. Hough. Mrs. C. A. Palmer, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Paul Colby served as best man. The bride was gowned in white satin and georgette crepe, and wore a veil of tulle.

Following the ceremony a two course tray luncheon was served, the color scheme being pink and green.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaunt are enjoying a month's honeymoon trip in Illinois and Tennessee, after which they will make their home in Little Rock. A number of relatives and friends from Sparta attended the wedding.

Miss Mary Merow and Mr. Roy Raymond Trapp were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Merow, residing in Putman Valley, Wednesday at noon. Miss Ethel Smith played the wedding march as the couple entered the parlor. The decorations were blue ribbon, pink flowers and white wedding bell. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Merow was the attending couple. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Joseph S. Morris, pastor of the Congregational church. Following the service, a four course dinner was served, covers being laid for fifty guests. The decorations in the dining room were in pink and white. The bride's gown was of white georgette over white satin, her shower bouquet was of pink and white roses, swansonia and ferns.

The bridesmaid wore white crepe de chine over satin and carried white astors.

Mr. and Mrs. Trapp will reside on the George Merow farm, in Putman Valley.

At Christmas time Elinor got several little candy animals, which she had been saving because they were so cute. But one day the toy rabbit was missed.

"What did you with Bunny?"

"Oh, he got too dirty to play with, so I ate him," replied Elinor.—Chicago Tribune.

The Painter's Dog

Mrs. Ritchie, the daughter of William Makepeace Thackeray, the English novelist, writes of visits when she was a child to Sir Edwin Landseer, the animal painter. She says Sir Edwin was delightful company and that he told the children many stories of animals as he stood painting at his huge canvases. "I remember," she says, "his telling us an anecdote of one of his dogs. He was in the habit of taking him out every day when his work was over. The dog used to wait patiently all day long while Sir Edwin was painting, but he used to come and lie down at his feet and look up in his face toward five o'clock, and on one occasion finding that no notice was taken of his hints he trotted into the hall and came back with the painter's hat, which he laid at is feet."—Merrill Herald.

FOREIGN DELEGATES GOING HOME TO OPEN PROHIBITION DRIVES

Representatives of Other Countries Get Information on Progress in United States

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Armed with information on the victory of prohibition in the United States, foreign delegates to the International Congress Against Alcoholism were ready tonight to return home and conduct among their own people drives against intoxicating liquors.

Business and scientific sessions of the congress were concluded today. A "field day" of entertainment remains for tomorrow as a formal ending of the fifteenth congress with Governor Milliken of Maine, as the principal speaker.

Richmond Pearson Hobson placed before the congress at today's session resolutions intended to aid the advocates of world prohibition. The congress being unauthorized to act, referred the resolutions to the international committee which governs its sessions.

Introduction of the resolutions followed their adoption by the executive committee of the world prohibition federation which met here in connection with the congress.

The world federation also adopted resolutions demanding that congress deny citizenship rights and privileges to "brewers and others whose business has been outlawed in this country if they attempt to invade a foreign country to continue their business. Delegates to the congress and related conferences spent a part of the day in a visit to the tomb and home of Washington at Mount Vernon.

Normal Notes

Principal Ed. Gluesing and Vice Principal Regina Beekmire of the Trempealeau High school took advantage of a holiday to visit friends among the students and faculty members last Thursday. Both graduated last June from Normal.

Mr. Beery, who is taking Mr. Morgan's place as musical director, gave several vocal selections at the general assembly last Wednesday.

The band instruments, which were sent to Chicago for refinishing during the summer have been returned. A call has been made for students who wish to try out for the band, and practice will begin as soon as possible.

Eighty Normalites, for the most part new students and strangers to La Crosse, were entertained at the Eighth Street M. E. church on Friday evening, September 16. All who attended reported a very good time. Mr. Lyon of the Normal school was in charge.

A surveying class, the first for some time, has been organized at the Normal school. This class will prove a great help to the prospective engineers enrolled in the school.

PRESIDENT SCORED FOR REFUSING TO ACT ON JONES LAW

Senator Jones Criticizes Wilson for Failing to Carry Out Provisions of Act

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 25—Announcement from Washington yesterday that President Wilson has declined to take action in annulling existing treaties with foreign countries by which the United States is prevented from granting special import tariffs and transportation rates on the imports carried on American bottoms, so provided in the Jones shipping law, drew criticism from Senator Leslie L. Jones, author of the measure here today.

Senator Jones characterized the attitude of the president as "another example of Wilson's autocratic disposition and his disregard of such laws as does not suit him, even though he may have signed them."

"Congress could abrogate these treaties by legislation," said Mr. Jones, "just as it did abrogate the treaties in the seamen's act. It deemed this a too drastic course and directed the president to proceed in a dignified, courteous way to have them abrogated.

"This act of the president will bring rejoicing to the warring interests of our rivals for world trade and strike an early blow to the maintenance of the American merchant marine."

Mystery of the Melting Point

Certain metals, which melt only at rather high temperatures, may be mixed with each other in certain proportions and will then melt at very low temperatures. That is how some solders are made. Tin melts at 449.6 degrees Fahrenheit, lead at 620 degrees Fahrenheit, bismuth at 514.4 degrees Fahrenheit, and cadmium at 608 degrees Fahrenheit. But if you mix eight parts of bismuth with five parts of lead and three parts of tin (by weight), the alloy will melt in boiling water (212 degrees Fahrenheit). If you mix six parts of bismuth, one part of lead, two parts of tin and two parts of cadmium, it will melt at 158 degrees Fahrenheit. And if you want an alloy that will melt at 140 degrees, you have only to mix four parts of bismuth and three parts of cadmium.

The Test

Some visitors who were being shown over a pauper lunatic asylum inquired of their guide what method was employed to discover when the inmates were sufficiently recovered to leave.

"Well," replied he, "it's this way. We have a big trough of water, and we turns on the tap. We leave it running, and tell 'em to bail out the water with pails until they've emptied the trough."

"How does that prove it?" asked one of the visitors.

"Well," said the guide, "them as ain't idiots turns off the tap."—Dallas News.

"Did you say your little prayer last night?" her mother asked her one morning at breakfast.

"No," said the little girl. "I was too sleepy last night, Mamma, but Sunday night when you put me to bed before I was sleepy, I prayed seven prayers—enough to last me all this week."—Janesville Gazette.

COW PUNCHER FROM U. S. RUNS MISSION IN ARGENTINE CITY

Rescue Work Carried on in Buenos Aires by Cowboy from the Western Plains

BUENOS AIRES—On a street in Buenos Aires which might be called the back-wash of the world judging from the human derelects cast up from every stream and land, a North American cow puncher of the old West is conducting a rescue mission where hungry children are fed and tired souls are comforted. He is John Calvert de Bohun, who says he "was born on the hurricane deck of a cayuse" in New Mexico.

Cowboy, jockey, wanderer, and finally ordained minister, Bohun's life has been made such as to make him one with the dead wood that drifts into his mission, as he tells his story, and his redemption to bodily and spiritual health a parallel to that of some of his people. There was a time, he says, when American whiskey was no longer strong enough for him so that he satisfied his appetite with Chinese whiskey, which is like drinking mixed turpentine and banana oil.

But through the years came glimpses to him of something better. A touch of remorse in Australia, a good example in Europe, the sight of a woman who reminded him of one "he used to know," the influence of Father Damien, who gave his life to the lepers of Hawaii and who was so loved that there was scarcely a dry eye in grog shop or ship's cabin from Manila to Melbourne when he died, such things made him wonder. And finally, worn and world-knowing, when he drifted back to that New Mexico from which he had started and found "Tom the Devil" preaching instead of running the old gambling game, and later saw others follow in his steps, Bohun says that the light came to him. He became a minister.

Bohun's mission is located in a building something in appearance like San Antonio's Alamo, and with a history as eventful as those who repair to it. Built for a Masonic lodge many years ago, it has been variously dance hall, gambling house, headquarters of the Black Hand in Argentina and is now a combination church, school, orphan's home and first aid to the morally injured.

In the room where one women and men drank and danced, now there are religious services in Spanish, and between times children, seldom less than 100 of them, at lunch or supper.

Children of every race and religion are fed there. Other work of the mission is with lepers, and with old men and women. The mission of which Bohun took charge about four years ago, is not maintained by any organization, but is held together by free will subscriptions.

When Bohun talks with a visitor, particularly with an American who knows the West, his references to his work are mingled with spontaneous tales of "hard riding and hard shooting men". Of John Wesley Harding, for instance, the frock-coated gambler of El Paso, who, Bohun says had killed 14 men, but "was every inch a gentleman and always killed with regret"; of Calamity Jane, whose story was bound up with the fight between law and things as they were that desolated Tombstone, Arizona; of Moroso, king of cattle thieves; of Wild Bill Hikok, who met his end at Dodge City; and of many more who made the West a place of romance. Minister though he is, he is still a cowboy, bent on getting his herd safe into the final round-up.

ALL-RUSSIAN CENSUS ORDERED BY SOVIET SAYS MOSCOW REPORT

Seek Information Relative to Weak Places in the Soviet System

MOSCOW.—(Soviet Official Wireless.)—Wireless instruction "to all political sections" have gone forth from the bolshevik central committee here that an all-Russian census is to be taken, which, it is explained, "is essential with a view to discovering the weak places in the soviet social fabric and to relieving each other's want and disorganization."

"As in private property," the circular adds, "so in the property of the whole state, each individual part depends on the other parts."

"Latterly," the decree proceeds, "the town populations have moved in large numbers to the country. Regarding the workers, tradesmen and specialists, we do not know how many there are, nor where they are. It is essential to discover and reckon up this working force. When this is done, there will be a possibility of correctly disitributing them."

It is further explained that census of children is necessary in order to know how many schools, kindergartens and churches should be opened. The illiterate must be registered in order to know where there are many, and to send teachers there. Old, crippled and otherwise disabled people must be registered so as to know how they may be assisted, and how to provide for them.

Agricultural returns must be made so as to know the number of people working on the land: whether they are provided for, what they are cultivating and where there are waste and uncultivated lands. It will then be clear where help must be sent, what seeds and machinery must be ordered from abroad, how much cattle is necessary, etc., and the same applies to factories, mines and all industrial plants. The point is to discover the weak spots, and how they may be healed, says the circular.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH RELUCTANT TO LET ITS PASTOR RESIGN

Extends Formal Call to Rev. Myhre to Remain and Votes Increase in Salary

Several weeks ago the Rev. O. C. Myhre handed in his resignation to the St. Paul's Lutheran church, West Avenue and Division street. The church, however, refused to consider the resignation and voted to give the pastor a substantial increase in salary as an inducement to remain. When the pastor insisted upon the acceptance of his resignation, this action was regretfully taken.

Then, at the last business meeting of the church it was unanimously voted to recall the pastor and a formal call now has been issued to him. Rev. Myhre has the matter under consideration and will soon make his decision.

Rev. Myhre has been pastor of the local church for the past five years, coming here from Adams, Minnesota. He has received a call to the Saviour's Lutheran church of Osage, Iowa.

WHITE CHALLENGES THE FAIRNESS OF CANDIDATE HARDING

Criticises Attack of G. O. P. Leader on U. S. Shipping Board

DECLARES SENATOR HARDING'S CHARGES CANNOT BE PROVED

Facts in Conflict With Candidate's Statements

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—George White, chairman of the democratic national committee, in a statement tonight, declared that "if the spirit of fairness and truth governed Senator Harding in his campaign, he would not have been guilty at Marion yesterday of his unprovable attack on the shipping board and his attempted disparagement of one of the real facts of the administration—the upbuilding of the American merchant marine. The statement continued:

"'One of the great problems of a new administration,' he said, 'would be to turn the 12,000,000 tons of war-created shipping into an effective agency of widened American commerce in peace.' 'I do not know,' he added, 'of a single feature of the present administration, comparable to that of the nited States shipping board.'

"As usual the facts are in conflict with the senator's statements. Prior to this administration only eight per cent of American ocean-borne commerce was carried under the American flag. Now more than fifty per cent is so carried."

HUDSON BAND IS EXAMPLE OF CO-OP COMMUNITY SPIRIT

One of the pleasantest little exhibitions of community co-operation and good will was presented at the Interstate Fair by the band of the Hudson Manufacturing company.

This Minneapolis concern represented locally by F. H. Ruplin and Leslie Derr were featuring their own exhibit of dariy barn equipment by a quartette band in a musical-dancing number of their own.

This band offered their services in the community tents on the last afternoon of the fair and drew large crowds by their music on the platform "barked" by the leader, Billy Black, and an introductory clog done within doors by Sammy Smith.

EASY TO END LIFE SHOWS FRIEND HOW

MADISONVILLE, Ky.—"I believe this gun barrel is long enough for a man to put the stock on the ground and blow off his head, don't you?" asked Hobert Phillips, 22, of Clarence Eades, a neighbor. Dependent on Tides

There is only one season of the year when one can visit Angkor (in the interior of Cambodia, French Indo-China) owing to a curious phenomenon known nowhere else in the world—the fact that the river Tonle-Sap flows inland part of the year and then turns and flows outward, in the opposite direction, for the remainder of the year. At such times as it flows inland, during and following the rainy season there is water enough to float steamboats. When it flows outward it completely drains a large lake that forms part of the river bed and leaves the lake dry except for a small trickle down the center.

DESIGN, DECORATION, LIGHTS AND MUSIC COMBINE IN STUDIED AND HARMONIOUS WHOLE AT THE RIVOLI

THE new Rivoli theater is—

Well, it is a noble place to be, an edifice that is not a whit over-described by the word grandeur. But it is a difficult place to portray in words. A description must take it up detail by detail, and explain its beauties piece-meal. And that fails to give the complete effect, because the Rivoli is one of those successes of harmonious architectural and decorative effort in which every part is graceful and beautiful, and the whole is more than the sum of its parts.

The Rivoli would be stately and impressive without a brush-mark, simply by virtue of its clean proportions, sweeping lines and well-handled masses. Add the charming decorations which emphasize the architectural grace, which give a note of color fittingly restrained and subdued to harmony instead of contrast. Add the delicate colors of the lighting system and the tones and shadings permitted by its control to bring out the lines and shadows of the theater's architecture and the harmonies of its decorative scheme of walls and hangings. Then as a medium for the proper seeing of the whole let the great organ fill the structure with rolling and crashing and pealing harmonies, or if the mood suits with flutings and whisperings. Not until the whole effect is complete in its details of line, color, light and harmony does the beholder get the full beauty of the Rivoli. And then the shifting play of the lighting and the versatility of the organ-music which fills the house will seem adequate to meet any state of mind.

A Difficult Problem

Motion pictures run the gamut of human emotions in the course of an hour or two. Properly to construct a setting for this human kaliedoscope is a problem in versatility which taxes the possibilities of mortar, steel, brick and paint and of the designers and craftsmen bound by their limitations. Confronted by this problem, some designers of late years have gone artistically berserk, to judge by their work, and turned out gaudy monstrosities compacted of every school of architecture and decoration, or of no school at all, and the result is not pleasant. In the Rivoli, however, one feels that the men who planned and decorated were bigger than their problem and mastered it. The result is a charmingly comfortable and lovely interior, majestic in proportion and decoration and at once distinctive for itself and properly subdued as befits the setting of varied entertainment.

The first impression upon entering the auditorium is one of great size and space. Of course the dimensions are tremendous—they must be, to seat 1400 persons with ample seat and aisle room on one floor. But the effect is enhanced by the vaulted ceiling and the skillful choice of color-tones in decoration. Parkinson & Dockendorf, the architects, and the Oyen studios, the decorators, have cooperated expertly in attaining it. The same unity and directness of purpose, incidentally, is evident all through the theater, lobbies and rest rooms as well as auditorium.

Mural The Color Keynote

The keystone of the decoration of the auditorium is the mural painting "Day Quitting Night" which occupies the space above the proscenium arch. In the manner in which Maxfield Parrish is probably the typical demonstrator Mr. A. E. Soderberg has worked out a difficult matter of dimension and color tones which brings together and harmonizes the scheme of the whole interior. He has resisted the temptation to over-elaboration and intricate symbolism, and kept the painting what it should be in its place, a suggestion and enrichment of the decorative design, rather than an emphatic and obtrusive—and by the same token conflicting—display of line and strong color.

The decorative treatment of the entire theater, including the auditorium, invokes the Greek inspiration of the Adam period. In the silent-tile-paved lobbies, wainscoted to shoulder-height with Tennessee marble, the color scheme is laid on in broad, flat tones of ivory, amber and sienna. In the auditorium the color is a bit more elaborate. The ceiling panels use an Adam motif, as in fact does all of the decoration. For the most part, however, the ceiling is a soft, clear ivory. The walls are stencilled in a damask effect and throughout the decorations the ivory, amber, old gold and plum-color scheme is effectively used. In the picture are two great chandeliers giving semi-indirect lighting to the interior, which hang from plum-colored stems. Stained glass medallions of the chandeliers repeat a turquoise blue note used in medallions of the wall-panels. The whole chandelier is in opulescent glass.

Stage Brilliantly Beautiful

The stage itself has been a special study for the decorator, and properly focusses attention by a heavier color note. The curtains are heavy velour of a plum-color, with applique of turquoise blue edged with gold. Drawn back to disclose the picture screen the curtains reveal a drapery of turquoise blue. The whole is softly beautiful and orientally sumptuous under the varying colored lights with which the stage and auditorium are lighted.

Incidentally, the light system is rather remarkable. Technically it is described as a cove-lighting system with four-colored lights, provided with dimmers. What that means in practice is not even hinted by the description. As a matter of fact, the lighting system permits the play of what might with some truth be described as a color symphony. By shifting the combination of lights, and shading them gradually from a faint glow to a steady strong illumination an infinite variety of effects is possible, presenting the interior beauties of the theater in the key of moonlight, of noon, of sunset, etc. The effect of skillful operation of the lighting is mysterious and illusive and well-calculated to place the theater goer in a mood to receive and appreciate filmed emotion of any sort. In passing it may be said that the picture-folk have discovered a close relationship between lights of certain colors and certain emotions, and it may be that the lights of the Rivoli will have a big part to play in unconsciously stirring to tears or anger in accord with the actions of the shadows on the screen.

Fountain and Flowers

The same careful attention to harmony and balance which is apparent in the auditorium of the theater is displayed in the lobbies and rest rooms. In both the entrance and the T-lobbies the Adam motifs of decorations and the prevailing ivory and amber coloring is preserved. A feature of the T-lobby is a fountain which occupies a corner and supplies a needed relief to the necessary emptiness of the passage. It has a chubby infant Neptune and a dolphin as its central feature, to make a garden effect. Eventually the whole of the main lobby will be arranged with palms, etc, taking the place of the masses of cut flowers and floral set-pieces which adorned the lobby for the opening, the gifts of business and personal friends of the management. The arrangement of the fountain, and of the thousands of flowers which were sent as debut-presents to the Rivoli, incidentally, was the work of C. E. Schaefer.

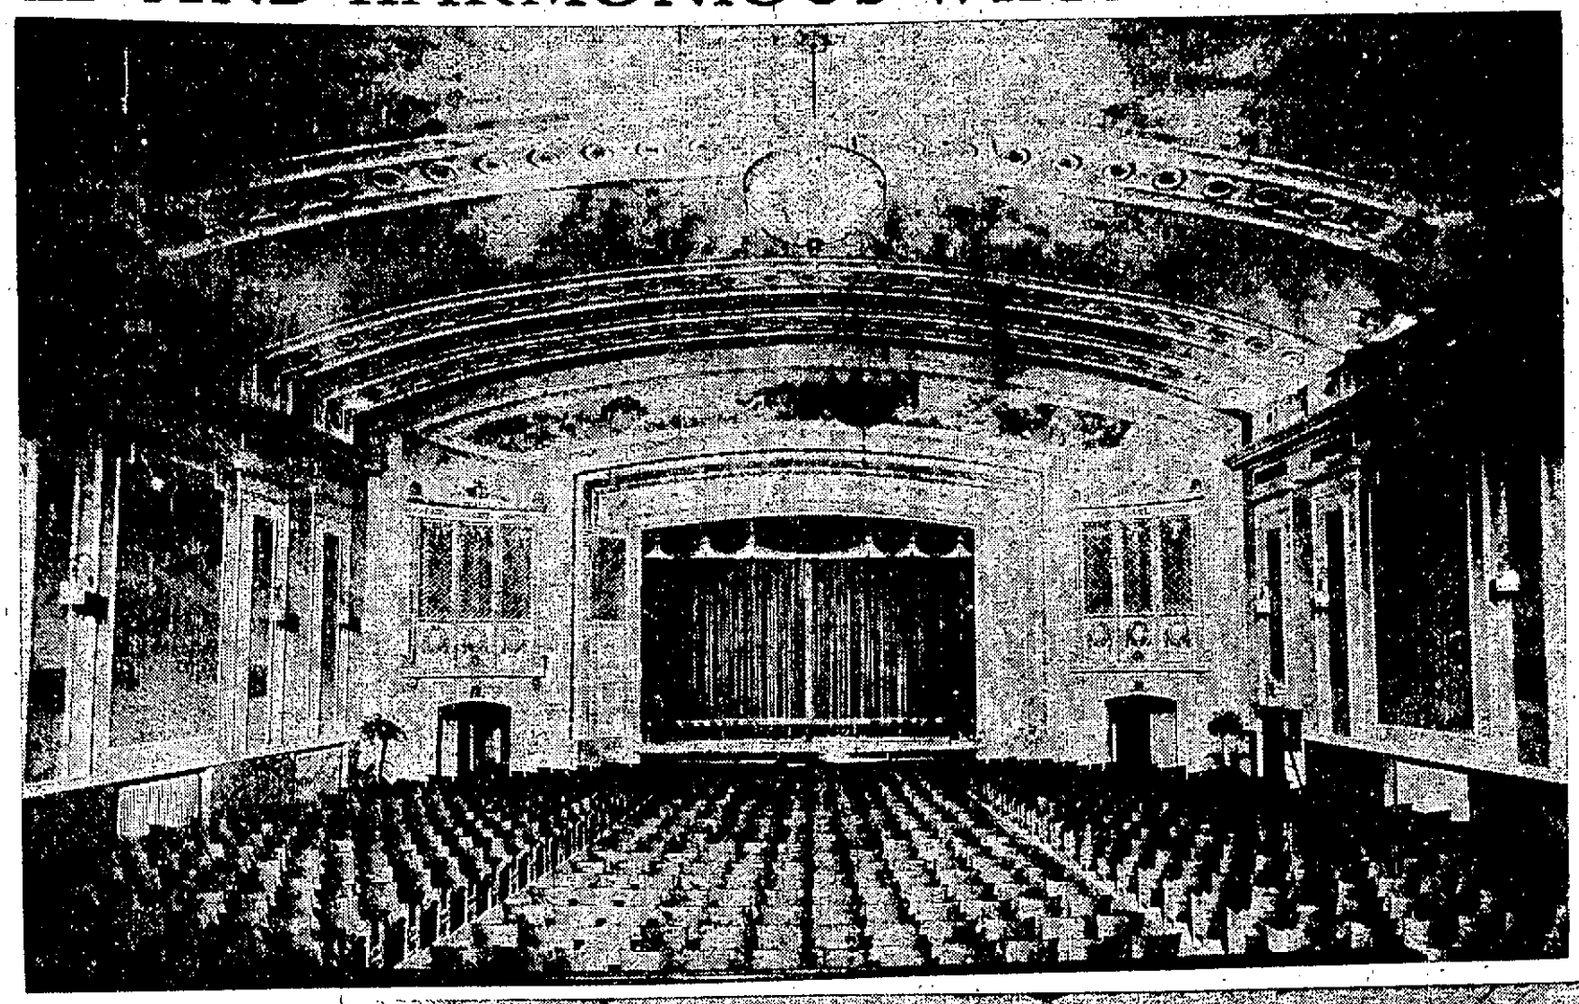

Mr. Schaefer said recently that there was something over $800 worth of flowers used on the occasion of the opening of the theater, nearly a thousand roses of all sorts being one of the conspicuous features. Most notable among the tributes was an eight-foot horseshoe sent by local business men, in which 3,500 asters, and dozens or roses, were used. American Beauties, Columbia and Russell roses were used lavishly in the decorations of both the lobby and the stage, and on the opening night all of the ushers carried little corsages of Ophelia roses.

The Important Organ

Mention has been made heretofore of the importance of the organ in the ensemble of the Rivoli. That the organ should be of unusual importance is not surprising, for it is an unusual organ. It was built according to the ideas and specifications of Walter Goetzinger, the sightless organist of the theater and wizard of music. Two famous organ-makers refused to build the organ, and the third who built it announced beforehand that it could be done, but nobody could play it after it was finished. He referred to the scores of special devices incorporated in the organ for the reproduction of orchestral effects. As it stands, Mr. Goetzinger is practically able to play any orchestra number as it is written, with drums, cymbals, brass and wood instruments, even a marimbaphone. The mechanism of the keyboard is hopelessly intricate, and after watching Mr. Goetzinger play through a show one is prepared to agree with the maker that nobody can play that organ—except the man who designed it and does play it. He plays with both feet as well as his hands, and it requires considerable physical fitness and athletic ability to meet the requirements of that organ. But, as Mr. Goetzinger affectionately asserts, if you treat it right it can do anything.

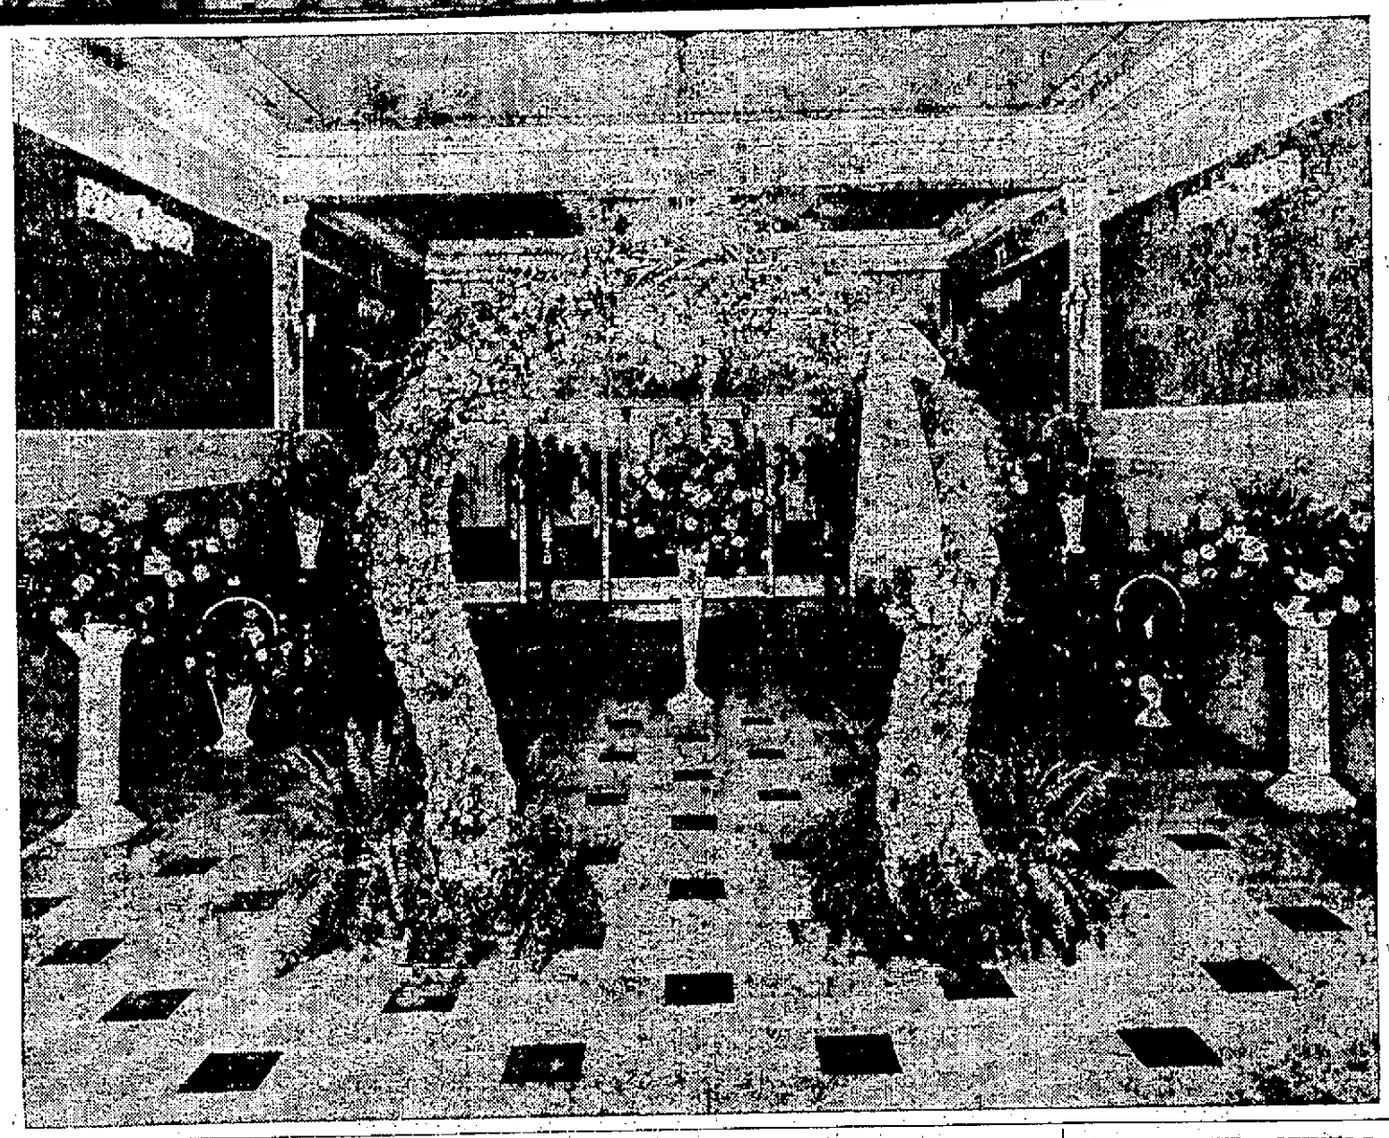

Mr. Goetzinger talks most interestingly of his organ.

"You know a pipe organ still strikes a lot of people as rather out of place in this theater," he said. "I used to hear, and still do sometimes, remarks to the effect that one ought not to play popular music on a pipe organ. I believe that is because a great many people think of an organ not as an instrument but as part of a church, because they always used to be in churches and nowhere else. But people must learn to take an organ for what it is, just an instrument. It is the most flexible and versatile instrument in the world though. I don't like to hear people say that I 'imitate' an orchestra on the organ. I don't at all. I don't imitate anything. I play orchestra numbers on the organ because the organ is one instrument that can handle all the various tone colors that otherwise can only be produced by the various individual instruments. But organ music is not imitation. It is something quite by itself."

JEWS CELEBRATE FOR EIGHT DAYS STARTING TODAY

Feast of Tabernacle Will be Observed by Jews in City of La Crosse

During a period of eight days, beginning on the eve of the twenty-sixth day of September and ending on October the fifth, the Jews will celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles.

Once a year Israel revives its love of the soil, and makes public avowal of the fact that even an industrial civilization, such as ours, depends primarily upon the elements of nature. This restatement of love for and confidence in Mother Earth is indeed a fact of Jewish religiousness. We know and we reassure ourselves that God is at the centre of life through all the seasons and that the prosperity and the satisfaction we seek come or do not come according to His law.

Judaism is a religion in the very midst of the passions, aspirations and complications of life. Nowhere are these more insistent than in the economic interests of men. Here religion has a duty as well as an opportunity. Judaism endeavors not merely to fortify men in their difficulties as to their daily bread, but also to keep them moral, large-hearted, and just.

The Sukkoth festival is meant not as a season of self-congratulation on having garnered in the product of the farm or the gains of business, but as time for thought on the larger-scoped social interests of men in the national and international life. The Jews are the first to have recognized political economy as the field where religion and morality must operate for the good of men.

In its modern form the suggestiveness of this truth of the Sukkoth festival is made more effective by the fact that it occurs at the beginning of the Autumn, coincident with the increased activities of the economic agencies. It is, as it were, a timely lesson for each one to interpret his life as of larger scope, related to the national life and made possible in fullness only within it.

The "dwelling in booths" as characteristic of the biblical phase of the festival and observed as an archaic symbolism nowadays is a suggestive domestic ritual which re-affirms the lessons of "the simple life" and the democracy of the Jewish household. The five symbolic plants hint that, as the gifts of God in nature vary and in their totality make human life sweet and satisfactory, so the difference among men, as to service and character, may serve to make "society" an organization in which each one of us has a place and can make a helpful contribution. Some more effective, some less; some noble, and some commonplace; some for the day and some for all time, according to what they do and what they are.

The Sukkoth Festival is the culminating lesson of the series of holidays of the month. It addresses itself to the facts of life which we might, otherwise, leave sordid. It widens the horizon of our individual interests. It approves our vocations and labors not when they bring private satisfactions but when they vitalize our common humanity and make us more efficient in the work upon which depend the weal, the peace and the joy of the community.

GEORGE LAUTZ IS NAMED ASSISTANT ENGINEER OF THE GOVERNMENT FOREST SERVICE

George H. Lautz of the United States forest office, district No. 1, in Missoula, Mont., has been appointed assistant engineer of the United States forest service with headquarters in Washington, D. C., according to word received here.

GEORGE LAUTZ

Mr. Lautz will leave Missoula for Washington on November 1. He will be assistant of Chief Engineer T. W. Norcross, who is in charge of all the engineer work of the seven districts of the United States.

George Lautz is a native of La Crosse, a son of Mr. and Mrs. August Lautz, 611 West avenue south. He graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1908 and went to Missoula in 1909, entering the forest service there in the fall of 1910. He was made assistant engineer for that district and when Frank Bonner left Missoula three years ago to accept a position in Washington Mr. Lautz was made chief engineer for the district. During the four years that he has been in charge he has had supervision over the construction of hundreds of miles of highway within the national reserves and has had more than thirty engineers working out of the Missoula office. During his term of office the district office of engineering has been reorganized from what was formerly known as the office of geography and mapping, and has made rapid growth.

NEILAN IN COMEDY; CHAPLIN IN TRAGEDY SITUATIONS CURIOUS

Things Topsy-Turvy in Filmland With Leaders Exhibiting New Talents Asserts Rumor

Things have gone topsy turvey in movieland. Rumor has it that Charlie Chaplin has completed a feature production along serious lines and that it is so good that other concerns are tyring to wrest it away from the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, which has the famous comedian under contract. David Wark Griffith used a large amount of comedy in "The Idol Dancer" and now comes a production by Marshall Neilan which is all comedy.

"Don't Ever Marry" is the production by the noted director which is uproarious comedy from the opening scene to the closing episode. The production is a surprise coming directly after the dramatic sensation form the same director, "River's End," but it is safe to say that the director will lose none of his admirers through his latest effort, but will gain many more for it depicts a whole series of as laughable scenes as has ever been filmed, and the story is dramatic.

Picture An Ideal Comedy

It is not so surprising, to that, that Mr. Neilan should have produced "Don't Ever Marry." It is just such a comedy as all producers are always seeking but which are seldom found. There is not a laugh in it dependent upon the grotesqueness of any character, but all the humor and comedy, with which the picture abounds, come from situations in which every day people find themselves through a combination of circumstances.

Edgar Franklin, the author of the story from which the picture was taken, in writing the tale struck upon a theme in which the action was the main part, a novel which lent itself admirably to adaptation to the motion picture screen. Mr. Franklin is known to thousands of magazine readers for the delicious humor of his stories, and Mr. Neilan has transferred all of the humor in the original story, with some added touches made possible only by the scope of the camera. "Don't Ever Marry" will be the attraction at the Rivoli theater, beginning Sunday.

RIVOLI

In "Don't Ever Marry," which opens at the Rivoli today, the director, Marshall Neilan deviated from his beaten path. His greatest successes have been dramatic pictures with a little touch of comedy such as, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," "In Old Kentucky," "The Unpardonable Sin," and numerous other pictures that we have all seen and enjoyed.

"Don't Ever Marry" is a comedy in which a newly-made hubby has three wives who claim him, thus bound to create trouble. When he really loves one of them his explanations in regard to the other two are bound to be funny to anyone not involved. Also when it develops that the other two wouldn't have him on a bet, their reasons for claiming him are interesting. Of such complications is this humorous and interesting story.

Matt Moore and Marjory Daw play the leading roles, while little Wesley Barry furnishes the comedy, in the role of the bell hop. "The Song of the Paddle," Bruce scenic, Will Rogers "Illiterate Digest" and "Out of the Inkwell," and animated cartoon completes an interesting program. Walter Goetzinger at the organ accompanied by Frank Hines' orchestra will furnish the music.

MAJESTIC

"Blood Barrier," a J. Stuart Blackton production starring Sylvia Breamer and Robert Gordon will be the attraction at the Majestic today only. The story by Cyrus Townsend Brady, is based upon the deepeest feelings of mankind, jealousy, a thrilling melodrama intermingled with exciting action.

Constance Binney in "39 East," from the celebrated stage play opens Monday for three days. Miss Binney needs no introduction to the picture fans of La Crosse, having appeared in "The Stolen Kiss" and "Erstwhile Susan," at the Majestic the past few months. This is Miss Binney's third picture and if it is anything like the other two we will be well pleased.

LA CROSSE

Vaudeville today only at the La Crosse, headed by the Steiner Trio, a comedy bar act. Two girls Ruth and Kit Clark assisted by a piano will entertain in songs and stories. Thesba Carroll, the original Hawaiian girl, presents "A Night in the Tropics," with an elaborate stage set. Ray and Blanche Mackay offering a pianologue, songs and stories. One act to fill and photoplays.

CASINO

A tale of Alaskan life and love, "Rose of Nome," starring Gladys Brockwell, will be the attraction at the Casino today and tomorrow. The story is based on the dog like devotion of a French Canadian, a miner of high ideals and sensibilities, who recognizes in a girl at a dance hall where he has lost his all in gambling the saintly qualities of his conception of the Madonna. His great love saves her from the man that would have caused her ruin.

BIJOU

"An Adventure in Hearts," with Helene Chadwick and Robert Warwick will be shown at he Bijou for the last times today. It is a story of love and the secret service, with a soldier of fortune playing a winning hand. In this picture, Robert Warwick has a chance to do some of the best fighting of his career in pictures, he is in trouble all of the time and wages fights against tremendous odds, Helene Chadwick does some of the best work of her career, and the rest of the supporting cast is excellent.

STRAND

A triple program will be offered to th patrons of the Strand today. Charlie Chaplin in "A Day's Pleasure," George Welsh in "Sink or Swim" and Edie Polo in "The Vanishing Dagger."

"Sink or Swim," is a story of a young American's experiences in foreign lands with the Reds. The complications that arise and the winning of the girl is told in laughable style. The story is fiction and written especially for the screen and should not be taken to seriously.

"A Day's Pleasure," has been shown in La Crosse before. There are still a number of people who have not seen it and those that have will enjoy seeing it again. Eddie Polo in "The Vanishing Dagger," a serial story in pictures, has plenty of thrills this week. As a whole a show that should please.

RIALTO

Tom Mix in "Desert Love," a story of the wild and wooly west, back in the days of '49 is the attraction at the Rialto today. In this picture Mix has a chance to display some excellent horsemanship. It has plenty of thrills and is bound to please all classes of audiences.

The world has nearly 300 active volcanoes.

THE NEW RIVIERA THEATRE TO OPEN THE MIDDLE OF OCTOBER

FOLLOWING close upon the footsteps of the Rivoli, the new Riviera, located on the north side, will open about the middle of October. The Riviera is built along the same lines as the Rivoli, but with not so large a seating capacity or building. Parkinson and Dickendorf are the architects, while Peter Nelson is the builder.

About a year ago Bert Nelson and Olaf Olson, of the Nelson Clothing company, decided that the north side should have a theater equally as good as the south side, and out of this idea the Riviera became a reality. The theater is built on the same style as the Rivoli—seats being on one floor. The Riviera will have a stage large enough to accommodate small road attractions or vaudeville, but by present plans the house is to be opened exclusively with pictures.

The building is two stories high, with offices in the front on the second floor, and the lower floor will have two stores and the theater entrance. The theater will seat about 900 people comfortably, and like its sister theater, the Rivoli, there will not be a poor seat in the house. Each seat is placed so that the patron will have a full view of the screen and stage. The building will have the very latest heating and ventilating system.

The theater auditorium will be lighted by two chandeliers in the center of the house and a cove indirect lighting system. Ornate brackets hung in the panels on the side walls furnish the light for the outer isles during the showing of the picture, while floor lights furnish lights for the center aisle.

The theater will have installed the very latest type of Moller Orchestra organ. The organ has thirty-two stops featuring the drum and clarinet attachments. It is the very latest design and has many new and novel features.

CHARLES RAY OFFERS COHAN'S BIG PLAY

"Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," George M. Cohan's celebrated play, in which Charles Ray is now appearing in a film version, is one of the most human stories Mr. Ray has ever produced. It takes its title from its locale, New Rochelle, which is approximately forty-five minutes from Broadway and 42nd street, New York city.

The story of "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," has to do with the adventures of Kid Burns, an ex-prize fighter from the East Side of New York city, whose friend Tom Bennett suddenly finds himself heir to a fortune and a estate in New Rochelle, the Kid encounters to act as his advisor. Upon reaching New Rochelle, the Kid encounters a series of adventures and "the only girl"—named Mary—and this combination furnishes material for one of the most delightful pictures Mr. Ray has ever produced. The picture, by the way, is the first independent production made by Mr. Ray in his studio and is bigger and more costly than any other picture of this talented screen star. "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," will be shown at the Rivoli, beginning Wednesday.

Tendons Grafted on Humans

Dr. Jalifer of Lyon, France, has grafted tendons taken from the leg of a calf or dog into the hands of men and though the tendons had been kept on ice from six to fifty days before being implanted, in all of his five cases the result has been good and in some the hand functions very well.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE IN "THE LOVE EXPERT"

Constance Talmadge in her latest production from the pen of John Emerson and Anita Loos, will be seen for the first time locally when "The Love Expert," is thrown on the screen of the Majestic theater Thursday.

As the central thought for this picture, the authors have provided a text like this: "This is an age of specialization, and what would be more natural than for a young romantic girl to try to become expert at love? Thus we find Constance Talmadge, in the role of Babs, a boarding school girl whose school days end before the senior year, thanks to her delinquencies in the elementary courses and her mania for self instruction in the science of the heart.

Emerson and Loos have given the screen many bright pictures but "The Love Expert," is declared to have excelled all previous efforts.

GLADYS BROCKWELL IN NEW FOX PICTURE

"Rose of Nome," a drama of love and gold in the great northwest in which William Fox presents Gladys Brockwell, will begin an engagement at the Casino theater on Sunday.

As with other stories by Barbara Le Marr Deely, this play is said to be filled with intensely dramatic situations that have been brought out with compelling force by Edward J. Le Saint, the director. There are scenes in the forest primeval, in the great snow-covered wastes, in the Alaska gambling dens and dance halls.

Miss Brockwell is surrounded with a strong cast, including William Scott, Herbert Prior, Gertrude Ryan, Edward Peel, Stanton Heck, Frank Thorne, Lulu Warrenton and Georgie Woodthorpe. Paul Schofield wrote the scenario.

Louisiana and Florida are the only parts of the United States in which flamingoes are found.

Some insects mature thirty minutes after birth.

FILM FUTURITIES

JACK PICKFORD IN O. HENRY STORY

Enacts Hero Role of Popular Short Story—Tropical Atmosphere Alluring Background

One of the most apealing stories written by O. Henry has been selected as the latest Golwyn starring vehicle for Jack Pickford. "A Double Dyed Deceiver" will enter the annals of motion picture history as a masterpiece. In this picture Mr. Pickford is supported by the versatile little Marie Dunn, who although still in her 'teens will some day rank high among the premiere leading ladies of the screen. Syney Ainsworth, whose consistently convincing interpretations of "heavy" roles is an assurance of real dramatic action has a part in a story that is fundamentally dramatic. James Neill, famous for his character portrayals of a stern nature, appears to splendid advantage in the fatherly role demanded by the story, while Edythe Chapman is suited admirably to her part as a loving mother.

FAMOUS SINGER TO BE HEARD AT THE NORMAL SCHOOL

Miss Myrna Sharlow, prima donna soprano, who opens the Normal lecture course on November 1st.

Many patrons of the Normal Lecture Course have sent in advance orders for season tickets. These orders will be filled very soon with the least inconvenience to the purchasers. Meantime they may rest assured that the order and the promised investment will yield most profitable returns.

Word has reached the committee from personal friends that Miss Sharlow whose photograph appears elsewhere in this issue, and who opens the course on November first, has made a most remarkable impression in recent concerts in Chicago.

The remaining numbers of the course were selected for their high merit. One of them, the lecture by John Drinkwater, brings to La Crosse probably the most eminent English literary man who will visit this country during the coming season.

PERSONAL MENTION OF SALEM PEOPLE

WEST SALEM, Wis., Sept. 25.—(Special)—The S. O. E. club was entertained at the home of Mrs Clinton Griswold on Tuesday afternoon

Mr and Mrs. B. B. Mercereau have returned after an extended auto trip through the Southern part of the state.

School closed on Wednesday so as to give the pupils and teachers a chance to attend the Interstate Fair at La Crosse.

The Mission club held a business meeting at the home of Mrs. Martin McEldowney on Friday evening.

Miss Anna Marie Otterson has gone to Northfield, Minn., to resume her studies.

Misses Myrtle Oltman and Olive Cook are teaching in La Crosse this year.

Misses Dorothy Waile and Margaret Bolles left recently for Appleton where they will attend Lawrence College.

The attendance at the local High school this year has broken all records with 128 pupils in the main room. Another row of seats has been installed in the Congregational church basement to make more room. A large number of pupils from the outside districts is attending the school this year.

Humor in Sinn Fein

At last some humor has been discovered to exist in Sinn Fein. It came from the mouth of an old Irishman who was letting himself go to an unfortunate tourist, who had lost one of those trains which do not go as often as they used to in the land of fair dreams and unfair realities. To the tourist the old fellow spoke thus:

"Och, it's all very well for yez to say that Ould Oireland isn't the same as she always was. Begorrah! We shtill have our fun left to us, wiv, all the dishtress that's pervadin' us—body an' soul. An' Oi c'n tell yez this—that there'd be shtill a whole heap of humor in this Sin Fein bizhness, if it wasn't for all the killin' that's goin' along wiv it."

In the Spring

When the society bug starts working young men are prone to lose sleep. That was my touble one night when, after having taken a fair maiden home from a dance, I headed toward the garage. A long freight train crawling along blocked me at the first crossing, and I settled back to wait for it to snake itself by. The next thing I remember was a heavy hand pawing my shoulder. I started up in alarm, to find no trace of the train, the sun pushing up in the east, and the milkman grinning at me from the running board. I paid him a dollar hush money, but it did little good, for my engine had been running all the time, and it was too good a story to keep.—Exchange.

To the People of La Crosse and Vicinity:

There's nothing on the planet that tastes half so good as friendship. It is the flavor of life, without which the greatest rewards of success are flat and stale. And because you have permitted us to taste so generously of your friendship this first week of THE RIVOLI'S opening, we want you to know how much we appreciate it.

We knew you would like our new theatre; we hoped you would be kind enough to say so--but even our most optimistic dreams did not prepare us for such a reception as your hearty cordiality gave The Rivoli. It means much more to us than the successful launching of a business enterprise. We are frankly happy, of course, that The Rivoli starts its career under such good auspices, but beyond that is the demonstration that our feeling of friendship and partnership with this community is returned. And that warms us clear down to our boots.

We'd like to thank each of you in person for your generous support and its expression in your presence at the performances of the opening week. We'd like to tell you how gratefully we hear the heartening things you have said about the new theatre. And we hope that the cold type will have imprisoned for you to read something of the personal appreciation with which this is written. But of course we know that saying "thank you" is only a very small part of friendship; we realize the thing that really counts to make friendship a lasting bond is to be a good friend to our friends. And that, friends of ours, is what we shall try to do by every means in our power.

You have been mighty good friends to us, and we hope that in the future conduct of The Rivoli we can show you that your generous conduct has not been misplaced.

THINGS MUSICAL

By H. MARGARET JOSTEN

THE program of music and dancing to be presented Friday by the Pavley-Oukrainsky ballet and the philharmonic orchestra is a varied and interesting one. It opens with the Overture "Phedre," of Massenet by the orchestra. The Samson and Delilah ballet follows. This ballet was used for the Chicago opera during the season 1918-19 and later presented in New York by Companini. The setting is a masterpiece of art, and the ballet a spectacle rarely seen in such complete and elaborate form except in the larger opera houses of the country.

"La Carmargo" is said to be a striking number with a wonderful costume of the period of hoop skirts, black patches, etc. The "Danse de Printemps" is a remarkable group of Greek poses danced with a great garland copied from the garlands used in Greek friezes. M. Pavley's "Bacchanale" is also done in Greek costume and has been pronounced a masterpiece of the dancing art.

M. Oukrainsky originated a new number which is used on this program, The Siamese Dance. This calls for special scenery, elaborate electrical effects and a marvellous costume, one of the most expensive in the ballet wardrobe. The music is from Rimsky-Kvorsakoff.

The "Torch Dance," the last number on the program, is also one of the most important and absolutely new for this tour. It is an ensemble in which all members of the ballet take part. A striking costume effect is obtained by the use of metallic plates and an unusual lighting makes the scene one of amazing beauty.

The music of the evening ranges from compositions by Kreisler and other moderns to that of Haydn and Beethoven. It includes "L'Arlesienne," Suite No. 1, Bizet and the Finale from Symphony No. 4, Tschaikowsky.

The Rivoli has an excellent organ; the theater seats 1,400. What a place for a real community sing.

Chamber music which has been until recent years, too rarely accessible to the mass of music lovers, is now becoming an essential feature of the season's series of musical events. There are at present several organizations touring the country and supplying the increasing demand for well rendered programs of chamber music. Among these groups the Great Lakes String quartet is rapidly achieving a high place.

Critics throughout the country are according them recognition and sincere admiration. W. L. Hubbard, music critic of the Chicago Tribune, says: "The exceptional quality of their playing is beautiful, being uncommonly soft and pure, yet not lacking in power, incisiveness and brilliancy when these are desirable. The average tonal quality is, however, exceptionally ingratiating, and in itself makes listening a pleasure."

The Cincinnati Enquirer recently commented as follows: "The tonal balance is excellent, the color agreeably varied, and the technical efficiency of the highest order. There was a sensitiveness in the playing which was of the highest artistic sense."

A first rate whistling solo which formed a part of the vaudeville show on the Community Council pike last week proved that there is no longer reason to believe "whistling girls" are doomed to the "bad ends" with which the old saw likewise threatens "crowing hens." Probably the wretched technique and lack of melody one usually associates with feminine whistling had something to do with the origin of the adage. Certainly Miss Hutson is mistress of that art which is so human that it might well be more commonly practiced by both sexes. Whistling is like smiling—one can't do it and be sad.

Robert Schauffler in "A Musical Amateur," recommends whistling as the best means of cultivating a musical memory. One's whistle is not difficult to transport like a violin, nor is it so delicate and suspectible an instrument as the voice, yet properly tuned and trained it can perform passages having fascinating range and variety. Surely there can be no more pleasant accompaniment to solitude than a whistle, and a mind full of melodies.

Coin Collectors Liberal

Since 1881 the value of rare coins has increased, roughly speaking, 1000 per cent, many rich men having taken up the fad of collecting them. A Washington man owns a collection of pennies for which he has refused $6,000. For one very rare specimen he gave a one-carat diamond!—Merrill Herald.

Krupps May Build Plant in Spain

Spain is one of the great iron-ore centers of the world, shipping ore heavily to other European countries as well as to the United States, and while it has some large iron and steel works, its output of the finished product has never been commensurate with its ore developments. Now, however, according to the London letter of the Whaley Eaton Service, there is a well-defined project of the Krupps to set up a great branch at Balboa, Spain, to manufacture agricultural machinery for the purpose of driving out of the market American companies who now have a large share of the business.—Manufacturer's Record.

ESCH SEES RECORD HAUL MADE IN FISH RESCUE WORK BELOW LYNXVILLE

Long an earnest advocate of fish rescue work on the upper Mississippi river, Representative John J. Esch became a real enthusiast when he saw two crews save the lives of 560,000 fish in one haul of a seine, four miles south of Lynxville. The haul was a record breaker for the fisheries crew operating under the jurisdiction of Superintendent C. F. Culler.

"It was the greatest sight I ever witnessed in conservation work," said Congressman Esch, who made the trip to Lynxville with Superintendent Culler, Clarence J. Webber, La Crosse lawyer, and others.

"The pond or pocket from which the land-locked fish were taken was approximately 1,500 feet long and 200 fet wide. As a result of rapidly receding waters, the fish were marooned in a pond a third of a mile from the river. A rise of six or seven feet would be required in the main river to permit the release of the fish from the pocket. Such a rise being highly improbable in the autumn, the fish would surely have died when the pond froze over in the winter.

Use Long Seines

"The two fish rescue crews operating with seines having a combined length of over 300 feet, after hours of work, brought the land-locked fish together in a pocket in the nets at one end of the pond. Then a runway was formed with surplus seine, permitting the fish to run out into deeper, clearer water near the middle of the pond, from which they were scooped out with dip nets into tubs and carried to the river, where they were released. A certain percentage of the bass minnows was first separated from the other fish and retained for distribution in inland waters. The balance of the fish were turned loose in clear water in the main river, where they will have every chance to grow to marketable size and help solve the food problem of the nation.

"This was a most wonderful demonstration of the value of the fish rescue work on the upper river, and I wish every member of congress could have witnessed it. The fish rescue work, in my opinion, far surpasses the hatchery work, and is deserving of greater support."

Asked regarding the haul below Lynxville, Superintendent Culler said that 95 tubs, containing approximately 560,000 fish, were carted from the pond to the main river that day.

Work Starts Late

The work of saving landlocked fish caught in pockets by receding waters of the Mississippi river is being pushed at the present time by Mr. Culler, superintendent of the Homer fish station, who has this work in charge on the upper river from St. Paul to a point about 10 miles below Bellevue. Up to this time this season more than 45,000,000 fish have been rescued, Mr. Culler reports. This is not so large as last year, but it must be borne in mind that on account of high water in the river most of the summer the work could only be started a few weeks ago. At the present time there are 94 men in different crews employed in this fish rescue work which is to continue to cold weather. The accompanying illustration shows one of these crews gathered about their boat, and is typical, it is declared, of the way in which this work is carried on.

This year the river held at a very high stage over a much longer period than for some seasons past and this has caused all of the lakes and ponds to become filled with water and as a consequence with fish as well. While great numbers of the bigger fish made their way back to the larger waters as the water began to recede yet the small ones remained on the spawning beds.

These places are and have been for some time past very low and as conditions will get worse these fish would all perish before the winter was over. In fact in a great many instances, long before that time.

Fishing Improves

While the fishing season this year has been of rather short duration, due to the continuous high stage of the river, yet the fishermen and fisherwomen report better fishing this season than for years past, particularly of bass.

Very general satisfaction is being expressed with this fish rescue work as carried on by Mr. Culler.

Mr. Culler reports the fish rescue work already completed about Wabasha, and crews are now working at Alma and points further down the river.

The fish rescue crew operating out of La Crosse is in charge of Captain Hugo Crasser, one of Mr. Culler's most efficient lieutenants.

Yes, It Worked.

A few days ago two young women entered a car and only found standing room. One of them whispered to her companion: "I'm going to get a seat from one of these men."

She looked down the row of passengers and selected a very sedate man, who bore the general settled appearance of a married man. She sailed up to him and boldly opened fire:

"My dear Mr. Green! How delighted I am to meet you! You are almost a stranger. Will I accept your seat? Well, I do feel tired, I heartily admit. Thank you so much.

The sedate gentleman—a total stranger, of course—looked, listened, then quietly arose and gave her his seat, saying:

"Sit down, Jane, my girl. Don't often see you out on washing day. You must feel tired I'm sure. How's your mistress?"

The young woman got her seat, but lost her vivacity.—Houston Post.

Searching for the Point

John George, executive secretary of the High street M. E. church of Muncie, who is a Scot, was listening attentively to a story about two fishermen who had been having good luck fishing from a boat in a lake. They wished to remember the spot where they had caught the fish but looking shoreward they saw no landmark that would assist them in finding the spot on another day.

"Finally," said the story teller, "one of them had a happy thought and cut a notch in his boat at this spot."

The crowd laughed, except George, who appeared puzzled. Finally, he, too, burst out laughing.

"I was just thinking," he explained, "what a good joke it would have been on those fishermen if the next day they were unable to get the same boat!"—Indianapolis News.

Couldn't Wait for Doctor

"How has the general health of this community been of late?" asked the tourist who had an inquiring mind.

"Finer than frog hair!" triumphantly replied the landord of the tavern at Tywoppity. "You see, we had only two doctors. One of 'em run off with another man's wife and the other was took on the jury and held so long that all the sick got well."—Ottumwa Courier.

WITH COAL IMPORTS STOPPED PORTUGAL FACES COLD WINTER

Prohibition of Coal Exports from England Creates Serious Situation

LISBON—A coal shortage is being keenly felt in Portugal owing to the prohibition of coal exportation from England and the absence of any good coal producing districts in this country.

All coal for industries was imported chiefly from Cardiff and Newcastle and since that has ceased and orders placed in the United States have been cancelled, the situation threatens to become serious and people are looking forward with alarm to the coming winter. Abnormal conditions exist as a result, all restaurants, cafes and places of amusement must close promptly at midnight and external illuminations are prohibited.

There is but little coal produced in Portugal, which has been entirely dependent on imported coal. For domestic purposes charcoal is chiefly used all over the country in small earthenware stoves specially made for its use. Now, however, even that has disappeared as the price of fuel rose to such an extent that the government was obliged to enforce fixed prices. In consequence, although there is plenty of charcoal farmers are not sending it to the market, hoping to obtain ever increasing prices for wood.

In the meantime all Portugal is suffering from utter absence of coal and people are obliged to buy wood when it is obtainable. Middleclass and poor people burn sawdust in small iron stoves expressly invented during the war for that purpose and also use impervious boxes lined with straw, that finish cooking the food, after it is removed, boiling, from the stove. Many families unable to cook at home are having their meals at the restaurant.

SISLER PROBABLE BATTING CHAMPION OF AMERICAN LEAGUE

Star St. Louis First Baseman Paving Way With Average of .405 for Season

LEADS TRIS SPEAKER OF CLEVELAND SIX POINTS

National League Scramble Between Hornsby and Nicholson

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—As the major league clubs swing into the final two weeks of the pennant race, George Sisler, star first baseman with St. Louis, seems certain of carrying off the 1920 batting championship of the American league.

Sisler, according to figures compiled today, is showing the way with an average of .405, with Tris Speaker of Cleveland six points behind him. Joe Jackson of Chicago is in third place with .381 and Eddie Collins, captain of the Chicago club, fourth with .371. The averages include games of Wednesday.

"Babe" Ruth, the home run monarch, who went home runless for a week, failed to shake off his batting slump, but managed to cling to fourth place in the list of leaders with an average of .367, although he made only one hit in six games.

Rice of Washington is in no danger of being deposed as the leading base stealer. He has fifty-five thefts to his credit, while Sisler is next in line with thirty-seven.

Other leading batters: Jacobson, St. Louis, .346; Rice, Washington, .341; Judge, Washington, .340; Tobin, St. Louis, .333; Weaver, Chicago, .337; Felsch, Chicago, .334; Meusel, New York, .333; Cobb, Detroit, .327.

The scramble for the batting championship of the National league has developed into a fight race between Roger Hornsby of St. Louis and Nicholson of Pittsburgh, with Hornsby topping the league with .365. Nicholson, who led the race a week ago, is a point behind the St. Louis slugger. Young of New York is third with .352 and Roush of Cincinnati fourth, with .340.

Cy Williams of Philadelphia, the leading home run hitter of the league, connected with another four base drive, bringing his total up to fifteen. In base stealing Max Carey of Pittsburgh continues to show the way with a total of forty-eight. Other leading batters:

J. Smith, St. Louis, .329; Wheat, Brooklyn, .325; Williams, Philadelphia, .319; Scott, St. Louis, .318; Hollocher, Chicago, .318; Konetchy, Brooklyn, .313; Fournier, St. Louis, .309.

CHICAGO TO CLASH WITH PRINCETON ON GRIDIRON THIS YEAR

First Game Between the Universities Played at Princeton October 22

CHICAGO, Sept. 25—All doubt of the 1921-22 series between the Princeton and Chicago football teams not being arranged has been removed by the announcement that the first game between these two universities will be played at Princeton, N. J., on Saturday, October 22, 1921.

Coach A. A. Stagg of the University of Chicago, who has so energetically and successfully attended to the Maroon end of the negotiations, in expressing his warm appreciation of the possibilities of these contests, says:

"Princeton will find in the University of Chicago a good high-class competitor with definite ideals of sportsmanship and I haven't any doubt that Chicago will find in the Easterners the same sort of a competitor.

"Undoubtedly Chicago and the West will to a certain extent get some benefit from Princeton and the East. It is undenisbly true that both will find each is made of the same sort of stuff and that their meetings will result in a mutual admiration for one another. And of course that cannot fail to react pleasantly. If the East finds that the Western boys are high-grade competitors and sportsmen, as the West will find the eastern boys, there will develop a mutual respect for one another which will be extended to the body politic."

Chicago has met four eastern institutions on the gridiron. These were Pennsylvania, Cornell, Brown and West Point. The Maroons played home-and-home series with the first two, which makes the Princeton series the third with eastern teams.

The first series, with Pennsylvania in 1898, 1899, 1900 and 1901, went to the Westerners, the scores being 11-28, 5-5, 0-41, and 0-11 in favor of Pennsylvania. In 1899 Chicago played its first game with Cornell, winning 17-6. The Cornell series ran from 1908 to 1911. The two teams broke even. The first two years they tied at 6-6 in each game. Then Cornell beat Chicago 18-0 and in 1911 Chicago defeated Cornell 6-0.

The games with Brown University were both played at Chicago, in 1899 and 1900. The first went to Chicago 17-6, but Brown came back strong the next year and beat the Maroons 11-6. Chicago's only remaining encounter with the East was in 1903, when West Point beat the westerners in a desperate battle 10-6.

TY AND THE BOYS

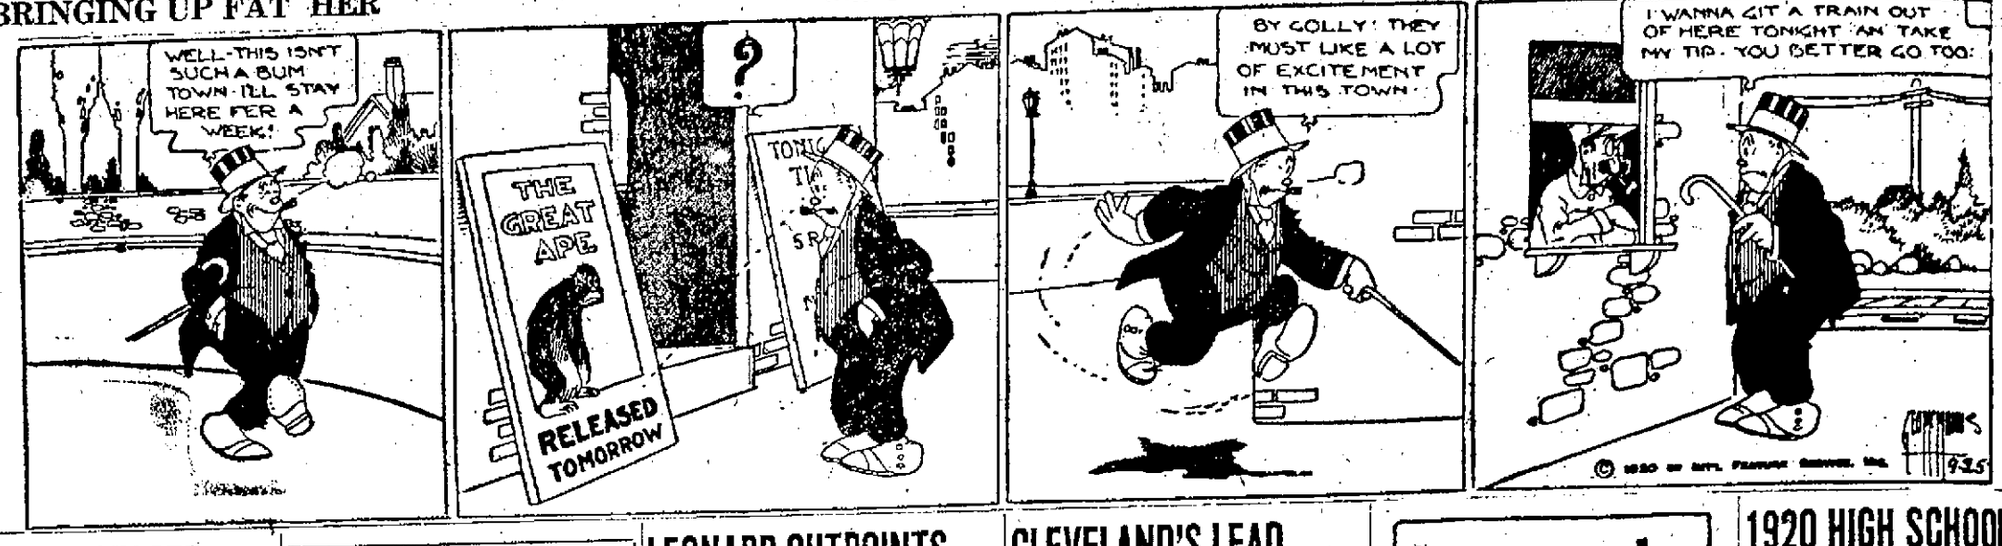

SAN FRANCISCO—Doc Strub has announced that Ty Cobb will play center field in the exhibition series. Boys under 21, chosen from the Coast League, will make up the rest of the team.

Transportation has been provided and members of the local club desiring to witness the event, according to announcement by H. L. Currie, secretary of the club, should be present at the club rooms at 12:30. The public is invited to attend.

The men representing each team are as follows: Tomah—Herman Storkel, Christ Wickland, Joe McCurdy, Hans Biecel, E. K. Taylor, William Wirth and R. Schendel. La Crosse—R. A. McLachlin, Bendal, J. Iverson, Joe Dubraks, A. J. Roberge, John Kling and Nickas.

PENNANT LEADERS IN BOTH LEAGUES SLICED ONE GAME

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—The Cleveland American's lead was shortened to a half a game when Chicago won the deciding contest of the three-game series with the Indians. New York sliced a game off the lead of Brooklyn in the National league race, leaving the Superbas four games ahead. The Giants only hopes is in taking all four remaining games to be played with the league leaders.

In the American Cleveland can drop two of its eight games to be played and the best Chicago could obtain by winning five straight would be a tie. The New York Yanks, three games behind the Indians and with only four to play, are still a mathematical possibility for first place, but would have a difficult task even in capturing second.

DODGERS RIMMED BY GIANTS 8 TO 0

Pennant Leaders Require But Two Games to Cinch 1920 Flag

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 25.—New York won today the first game of the series with Brooklyn that ultimately will decide the championship of the National league. The score, 8 to 0, resulted from consistent hitting by the Giants, good pitching on the part of Barnes, and wonderful fielding support.

World's series conditions prevailed with an attendance that taxed the capacity of Ebbets field. Thousands were turned away. Brooklyn needs only to win two more games to cinch the pennant. Score:

COPELAND PARK IS SCENE OF ATHLETIC ATTRACTIONS TODAY

Copeland park will be the scene of two athletic attractions today. The S&H and W&H football aggregations will make their initial appearance before La Crosse fans, while the north side all-stars meet the Diamonds in a baseball match.

The gridiron clash will mark the advent of city football into local sporting circles after a lapse of several years, and it is expected that the athletic novelty will draw a large crowd of enthusiastic supporters.

LA CROSSE NORMAL TO OPEN GRIDIRON SEASON SATURDAY

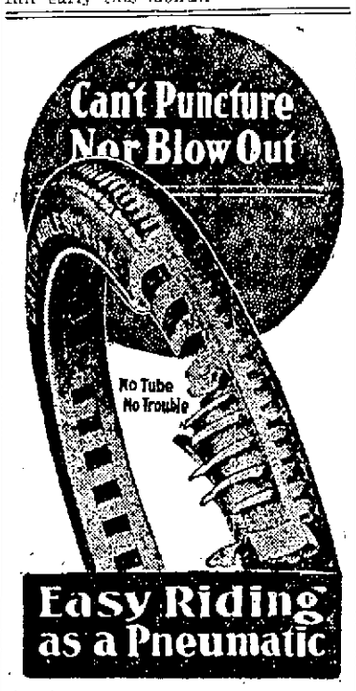

Continued Delay in Arrival of Equipment Prevents Scrimmaging

Though the opening game of the season is less than a week distant, things are shaping themselves well for the normal school gridiron warriors. In spite of the fact that the Normal field was used as a parking place for cars during fair week the team got its regular workouts. About twenty-five men are reporting regularly for practice, and "Tubby" declares that he will have thirty or more as soon as they can be completely outfitted. The continued delay in the arrival of the equipment has prevented any scrimmaging so far this season. The work has consisted of tackling and blocking the dummy, falling on the ball and running signals. Yesterday the squad put in a two hour session with the charging machine.

Season tickets for the Normal school athletic contests are now on sale. They may be obtained at the S. & H., Roth Bros. or any of the cigar stores. They may also be obtained from Manager Berg. The ticket admits the bearer to all athletic contests during the 1920-21 season.

MINNESOTA LOSES TWO GRIDIRON STAR

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. Sept. 25—Two gridiron stars were lost to the University of Minnesota late today when Trig Johnson of St. Paul, captain of the team, and Earl Martineau of Minneapolis were requested by the University authorities not to complete their registration, because of their implication in irregularities in handling of receipts at the Minnesota state fair early this month.

LEONARD OUTPOINTS MORAN EASILY IN TEN ROUND MATCH

Moran First to Stay Limit With Champion Since His Return in July

EAST CHICAGO, Ind., Sept. 25.—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight boxing champion, easily outpointed Pal Moran of New Orleans, in ten rounds here today.

Moran, fighting his first championship battle, remained on the defensive almost throughout the bout. Only in occasional flashes did he try to break through Leonard's defense and the champion had no difficulty in blocking these leads.

Leonard apparently could not get started in the early rounds but in the last four he had the New Orleans lad at his mercy. Swift left jabs and his famous right cross brought blood from Moran's mouth and opened a large cut under one eye. In the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth Leonard seemed continuously on the verge of scoring a knockout, but Moran, battling gamely against superior boxing, hung on to the finish. Neither man put over a knock-down.

Moran is the first man to go the limit with Leonard since the champion's return to the ring in July when he knocked out Charley White in nine rounds.

Moran weighed in at 130 pounds against 135 for Leonard.

A crowd of 10,000 saw the fight.

NOT OLD ENOUGH

MINNEAPOLIS — Manager Joe Cantillon, noted for taking on old baseball players, has offered Sherry Magee a job, but the former Red objects. He says he's not old enough for Joe's oldsters.

CLEVELAND'S LEAD CUT TO 1-2 GAME

Chicago Takes Two Out of Three Games in Series With Cleveland Indians

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 25.—Chicago defeated Cleveland today, 5 to 1, taking two out of the three games in the present series and cutting Cleveland's lead to one-half game in the hot race for the American league championship. A record breaking crowd, estimated at 33,000, witnessed the game, overflowing the playing field except in a small space in the center.

Claude Williams, the visitors' left-handed twirler, pitched masterly ball. He had the locals at his mercy except in the third inning when Cleveland scored its only run.

In the field Chicago played perfect ball, the locals having two errors. The White Sox made nine hits, including a home run and two doubles by Joe Jackson. Score:

Chicago 200 210 000—	5	9	0
Cleveland . .001 000 000—	1	5	2

Batteries: Williams and Schalk; Coveleskie, Bagby and O'Neill.

ST. LOUIS.—Detroit got away to an early lead today, but heavy bat work in the sixth and seventh saved the game for St. Louis by a score of 5 to 7. Score:

NEW YORK.—Shawkey's wildness gave Washington a victory off New York today, 5 to 2. Shortstop O'Rourke of Washington was given five $20 gold pieces by friends from Elizabeth, N. J., and then struck out. Score:

1920 HIGH SCHOOL MACHINE RAPIDLY WORKING INTO FORM

Chances of Locals to Cop Title Good With Seven Veterans in Line-up

With three weeks of stiff practice behind them, Coach Meade's football men are rapidly being squared away into their positions as they still line up for the opening game on October 9. Though the men are not yet permanently established in their respective positions, it is expected that within a week, the coach will have a definite idea of the lineup.

Captain Sullivan is working in the center position again this year, while E. Stokke, Murray, Boyle, Engelke and Dunham are being tried for positions in the line. Dunham reported to Coach Meade for the first time this season and is in the running for a place in the final make-up. Turek and Frey, veterans of last year, are showing up in excellent style and in all probability will get a lease on the end positions again this season. Stokke and Killian, although lighter men, are the makings of a good combination for the end positions.

Training a man for the quarterback position is perhaps the most difficult proposition confronting Coach Meade in the formation of the 1920 machine. Frey may be shifted from end and given the responsibility of maneuvering the team, while there is also a possibility of giving Maloney a chance at the position.

When it is considered that seven of the men, representing a majority of last season's record team, are in the field again this year, the chances of the locals to cop in the title race compare favorably with other schools.

LONE STAR TRAIL TO CROSS SOUTH

New Highway to Traverse Continent From Florida to California

WINNFIELD, La.—Organization necessary to assure building of Louisiana's share of the Lone Star Trail has been perfected and efforts will be made to have similar action taken by other states through which it is proposed to route the road.

The highway is to pass through North Central Louisiana the objective points being St. Augustine, Fla., and Los Angeles, Cal. After Louisiana is completed the organization of Texas will be taken up and pushed a thousand miles or more across that state and then the east end will be taken up through the states of Mississippi, Alabama and Florida and finally the great western division will be completed through New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Other east and west highways through Louisiana are the Dixie Overland along the line of the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific railroad and the Old Spanish Trail along the Southern Pacific, both far removed from the proposed Lone Star Trail.

Josh Billings

The humorist whose pen-name was "Josh Billings" was Henry Wheeler Shaw. He lived from 1815 to 1885. He turned off many shrewd sayings, bits of quaint philosophy and pointed jokes, but they were rather damaged by the laboriously bad spelling in which they were written. This style of humorous writing, quite popular in the United States half a century ago, has about gone out of vogue. Today Josh Billings is little more than a name.—Merrill Herald.

DANIEL STARCH REAL EXPERT ON PSYCHOLOGY POINTS OUT DIFFERENCE BETWEEN SEXES

HE CANNOT FIND THAT MEN EXCEL IN MENTAL EFFORT

La Crosse County Man Who is Instructor at Harvard Writes Interesting Article

This is a story of a La Crosse county farmer boy who made good and is now one of the famous experts on psychology in upper educational circles in this country.

Daniel Starch was born 37 years ago on a farm in Chipmunk Coulee, town of Shelby, seven miles southeast of the city of La Crosse, the son of Franz Starch, pioneer farmer of that section. Dan attended the country school and, becoming interested in his studies, was sent to Charles City, Iowa, to attend a college. Then he entered the university at Iowa City, and at the age of 23 years obtained the degree of Ph. D., the youngest in the history of that institution to get this honor. Specializing in psychology, Mr. Starch pursued his studies further at Harvard, where he took a post graduate course.

PROF. DAN STARCH

Now a Professor

Now Dr. Daniel Starch is associate professor of psychology at the University of Wisconsin and lecturer on commercial psychology at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

"Which are Smarter—Men or Women?" is the title of an interesting article in the September issue of The American Magazine, which has attracted wide attention in educational circles.

In this article Professor Starch says in part on this mooted subject:

"Not content with asserting that the two sexes are different mentally, people claim that women have one set of moral traits and that men have quite another set. Apparently, men are supposed to be born with one kind of character, just because they are male; and women are born with another kind of character, simply because they are female.

"Novels, plays, cartoons and jokes are based on these commonly accepted ideas about the differences between the sexes. And they do their share in passing on these ideas from one generation to another.

Finds Little Difference

"In the course of my work as a psychologist I have studied the available scientific data in regard to the differences between the sexes. And many of the facts which have been brought out are so at variance with popular ideas on the subject that I believe they will surprise the average reader.

"Psychologists are cautious when it comes to making hard and fast general statements about human beings. But I believe I can safely assert that there is only one great natural difference between men and women: that is the difference in sex. 'Male and female created He them.' Not 'masculine and feminine,' but 'male and female,' which is quite another matter.

"The difference in sex is a matter of physical structure. And it is the primary one which applies to all men and all women. The supposed differences in mental ability and in moral traits are at least fifty per cent purely imaginary. The other fifty per cent are due in a large extent to environment and training.

"I do not mean to say that there are absolutely no mental or emotional differences between men and women. What I do mean to say is that these differences are far smaller than people generally believe, and that the differences among persons of the same sex are far larger than the differences between the sexes themselves.

Just Recognizing Women

"Not until the latter part of the nineteenth century would men admit that the mind of woman was even capable of receiving the same kind of education that a man received. It was not a question of whether that was the education she needed to fit her for her probable activities in life. She was supposed to be incapable of receiving it. She was declared to be of inferior mental capacity as compared with man. Women's colleges were not developed until the last quarter of the nineteenth century and co-education in the highest institutions did not get under way until about the same time.

"Without regard to whether or not the same kind of education is advisable for girls and for boys, it has been demonstrated that there is nothing in their native mental abilities which would prevent them from taking the same school courses, from the primary grades to the higher education' offered by the colleges.

"Men may dislike giving up the idea that, merely by virtue of their sex, they are fundamentally of superior mental power as compared with women. But the truth is that differences in intelligence are differences among individuals, rather than differences between the sexes. There is a very wide range of mental ability among children, for instance. But there is no hard and fast line of demarcation between the boys as boys and the girls as girls.

Investigates Adults

"When it comes to adults there may seem to be such a line. But if it does exist, I think it is to a large extent the result of environment and of direct and indirect training. Just as great a difference in mental development could be produced within either sex.

"This does not mean that there are no differences between men and women as such. But the differences which do exist are more or less superficial, and are the result of the widely

MAGELLEN STRAITS DISCOVERY TO BE CELEBRATED SOON

Portugal Invites Other Countries to Join in Commemorative Ceremonies

SANTIAGO.—Many American nations as well as Great Britain, Spain and Portugal are to be formally invited soon to participate in the national festivities in November and December in commemoration of the 400th anniversary of the discovery of the straits of Magellen.

The festivities will center principally in Santiago and Punta Arenas, the latter the world's southern-most city, where the occasion will be marked by inauguration of important public works including port improvements; lighthouses in Smith channel; a railway between Punta Arenas and Natales, on the south Atlantic coast and laying of a cornerstone of the Punta Arenas university.

King Alfonso of Spain will be represented by the Infant Don Fernando of Bavary, who, according to present plans, will travel aboard a Spanish warship, via the Panama canal, arriving in Santiago in November. It is expected the foreign delegations will visit the straits in December when warships of the Chilean navy will be assembled there. It was through these waters that Ferdinand Magellen, the Portuguese explorer, first passed in November, 1520.
